MINISTER TO CANADA APPOINTED

Lieut.-Col. Hanford MacNider, New United States Official Representative at Ottawa

GAINED HONORS IN WORLD WAR

Distinguished Soldier and Financier Will Fill Post Vacated by Hon. W. S. Phillips

By KENNETH CLARK
(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 21.—Lieut.-Col. Hanford MacNider, of Mason City, Iowa, is the United States Minister to Ottawa.

President Hoover has chosen, and the Canadian Government has approved, a distinguished soldier and financier to fill the post vacated by Hon. William S. Phillips. Colonel MacNider is a Harvard man, former Assistant Secretary of War, and former commander of the American Legion. He is forty-one years of age.

In announcing the selection, the White House said Colonel MacNider had long been interested in the development of inland waterways, and would carry on the American-Canadian negotiations for expansion of the St. Lawrence waterway.

Colonel MacNider's services to his country in the Great War were recognized by three governments. The United States awarded him the Distinguished Cross with cluster, France made him a Commander of the Legion of Honor and awarded him the Croix de Guerre with five citations, and Italy pinned on his breast the Crocecal Meritodi Guerra.

He entered the Coolidge administration as Assistant Secretary of War in October, 1925, serving until May 1, 1928.

SUCCESSFUL CAREER

Colonel MacNider's career as a business man and financier has been eminently successful. He is president of the First National Investment Company of Mason City, vice-president of the First National Bank and treasurer of Northwestern States Portland Cement Company.

In politics he has served as national chairman of the Republican Service League and was delegate-at-large to the Republican National Convention of 1924.

A veteran of the South African and Great Wars, Captain Wasson has been a resident of Vancouver Island for over thirty years and took part in the Klondike Rush. He is a director of the 2nd C.M.R. canteen fund and has been connected with logging, fishing and mining on the Island for a number of years. Before he sailed for the West Coast aboard Ss. Princess Maquinna last evening, he stated that he is seeking election to Parliament in the interests of many returned soldiers and sailors, who are dissatisfied with the present administration.

R-100 PAYS HOMAGE TO SOVEREIGNS

British Dirigible on Twenty-Four-Hour Trial Cruise Preparatory to Flight to New World

WILL LEAVE FOR CANADA SUNDAY

(Canadian Press Cable)

LONDON, May 21.—The R-100 passed over London this evening and saluted the King and Queen. Their Majesties were about to enter Covent Garden Theatre when the dirigible loomed almost exactly overhead and dipped its great nose as an act of homage to the sovereigns.

The King stood erect and saluted as the R-100 tailed downward for a moment. The airship was accompanied by six planes. One looped the loop as thousands of pedestrians stopped to gaze. Motorists halted their cars, innumerable heads were thrust forth, the movement of traffic was suspended.

LONDONERS CHEER SHIP

The R-100 was sighted over North London at 8 o'clock tonight. She was flying very low. After passing over the city the giant ship turned her head and disappeared eastward. Her progress could have been marked by a blind man, for cheer after cheer arose from the different parts of the city as she passed over.

It was a welcome vastly different to that accorded air monsters of the same shape which flew over the city, on a different mission, in the days when Britain was at war.

GIVE ENGINES WORK-OUT

The dirigible left Cardington at 7 o'clock this evening on a twenty-four-hour cruise to give her engines a thorough work-out—one of the work-outs preparatory to her flight to Canada. She did not seek to attain speed, neither did she set altogether a direct course. She was sighted in London, fifty miles away, two hours after she started.

It is expected the ship will not return to Cardington until she has completed her twenty-four hours in the air. The date of the commencement of her great flight to the new world is still set tentatively at Sunday, unless unforseen trouble or unfavorable weather develops.

Parties Move To Electoral Reform Action

LONDON, May 21.—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, had a heart-to-heart talk with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald tonight. He told him, it is reliably reported, that the Liberals must receive satisfactory assurances that legislation for electoral reform would be introduced in this Parliament if the Liberals were to continue their support of the Government. At the end of the meeting Mr. Lloyd George came away with a pleasant smile and bearing all the appearances of being satisfied with its conclusion.

Acclaim Flying Duchess

HUGE and enthusiastic crowds completely surrounded the elderly Duchess of Bedford and her pilot, Captain Barnard, upon their arrival at Croydon airport, London, following their round-trip flight to South Africa. Her Grace, who is known as the "Flying Duchess," is one of England's most enthusiastic aviatrix.

Indian Solution Is Expected on Basis Of Dominion Status

By CONSTANTINE BROWN
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

LONDON, Eng., May 21.—I am informed that the British Government intends to announce its willingness to give India Dominion status. This announcement is likely to be made simultaneously with the publication of the report of the Sir John Simon Commission, which investigated conditions in India to ascertain the extent of its political development, and the political status these conditions warrant.

The Liberals and Laborites are reported to be in full agreement on the matter.

Mahatma Gandhi has been approached unofficially through the special correspondent of The London Daily Herald, who is at present in Bombay. The correspondent has been given special facilities for seeing the Mahatma in his place of confinement at Poona. It is understood that the Indian leader is willing to postpone discussion of his Nationalist claims, provided the British Government is willing to grant India Dominion status immediately.

Hon. G. W. Forkes Is Successor to Sir Joseph Ward

(Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's)

WELLINGTON, N.Z., May 21.—Hon. G. W. Forkes, Minister of Agriculture, has been elected leader of the United Party in succession to Sir Joseph Ward, who resigned the premiership and the party leadership through ill health. Sir Joseph is retaining his seat in the House of Assembly.

ZEPPELIN MOVES SOUTH TO EQUATOR

German Dirigible Nears St. Paul's Rock, in Mid-Atlantic Ocean

PREPARE WELCOME AT PERNAMBUCO

RIO JANEIRO, May 21.—The position of the Graf Zeppelin, bound for Pernambuco, at 1 a.m. G.M.T., Thursday, was given in a message received here as Lat. 8:30 N., Long. 26:30 W., or about 400 miles northeast of St. Paul's Rock.

An earlier message sent by Dr. Hugo Eckener to the National Telegraph Company said the Graf was making "little speed against strong winds, but all is well."

A great welcome is awaiting the Zeppelin at Pernambuco, where a mooring mast has been erected. The ship later will go to Rio Janeiro for courtesy visit of several hours, and then turn northward to Havana and Lakehurst, N.J. It left Freidrichshafen Sunday.

INCREASE IN SHEEP NOTED BY MINISTER

Interesting Figures Were Disclosed by Hon. W. Atkinson at Metchosin Yesterday

SMALL BOY REARS PEDIGREED FLOCK

The number of sheep in British Columbia showed an increase last year of 35,277 over 1928, Hon. William Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, told a gathering of prominent and interested sheep breeders from every section of Vancouver Island at the fourth annual contests of the Metchosin Sheep Breeders' Association yesterday afternoon. The Minister of Agriculture stated that in 1928 there were 170,255 sheep in the province, and in 1929, 205,532 sheep. In the same two years imports from other provinces into British Columbia amounted to 2,053 head of sheep in 1928, valued at $15,876, and 1,655,047 pounds of lamb and mutton, valued at $248,640. In 1929, imports were only 53 sheep, valued at $389, with 1,247,224 pounds of lamb and mutton, valued at $186,692. Mutton and lamb produced in the province during 1928 amounted to 3,180,112 pounds, value $364,441, and in 1929, 4,050,000 pounds, value $429,300. Wool produced in British Columbia in 1928 totaled 980,548 pounds and sold for $264,748, and in 1929, 1,162,697 pounds were produced and brought $244,166. The average consumption of mutton in Canada for 1925 amounted to 501 pounds; in 1926, to 599 pounds; in 1927, to 611 pounds, and in 1928, to 646 pounds.

IMPORTANT INDUSTRY

The minister stated that the figures were for the purpose of stressing the importance of the sheep industry to the province. He complimented the Metchosin association on the interest it had created, and advised his hearers to stay with

Taxable Income Of State Is Cut By 22 Per Cent

(Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's)

SYDNEY, Australia, May 21.—Declaration that, owing to the industrial and wool production depression in Australia, the taxable income of the State of New South Wales was reduced by 22 per cent, was made by the State Treasurer, Hon. Bertram Stevens, speaking in the New South Wales Legislative Assembly today.

The Assembly passed through committee stage the bill to reduce salaries of public servants by one-twelfth from July of this year until 1931.

ELECTION IS EXPECTED IN OLD COUNTRY

Problems Incidental to Memorandum of Sir Oswald Mosley Threaten Dissolution

WILL MR. THOMAS RESIGN OFFICE?

Resolution to Be Before Parliamentary Labor Party Disapproving Economic Policy

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, May 21.—The resignation of Sir Oswald Mosley, chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, has become a prime political sensation, and it threatens to shake the MacDonald Labor Cabinet to its very foundations.

There is persistent talk of consequences which would lead the Prime Minister to ask the King for a dissolution of Parliament, and there is widespread speculation regarding the attitude of the Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, whose resignation is regarded as being possible.

Today's meeting of the Parliamentary Labor Party over the question of the Mosley resignation was a stormy one. Its nature was reflected in all parts of the Labor side of the House of Commons.

SHORT AND SHARP

During question time the Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, Foreign Minister, was short and sharp in his manner of answering questions by Sir Austin Chamberlain. Mr. MacDonald, when asked whether the resignation of Sir Oswald was actually in effect, replied, "I understood it will be later."

When Sir Oswald himself entered the House towards the end of question time, he was very white, his color contrasting with the unusually flushed appearance of his wife, Lady Cynthia Mosley, the member for Stoke-on-Trent, who sat on the Labor benches below the gangway. The left-wing Laborites set up a defiant cheer. The Prime Minister, with the Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal and Minister of Employment, at his side, sat on a full bench of ministers surrounded by a crowded House. He wore an air of scarcely concealed annoyance. A few Conservative members cheered ironically, but the atmosphere on their side of the House was mainly chilly, in view of Mosley's successive

NO STARTLING DISCLOSURES ARE EXPECTED

Reports That Police Probe New Phases of Meal Ticket Redemption Scandal Are Denied

CIVIC INQUIRY RESUMES TODAY

VANCOUVER, May 21.—No disclosures of a startling nature are expected at tomorrow's hearing of the resumed relief office inquiry. The sitting will be held at 10 a.m., and probably confined to recall and questioning of witnesses already heard. Mr. George E. McCrossan, corporation counsel, said.

Careful scrutiny by Mr. J. B. Williams, city solicitor, and Mr. W. L. Woodford, internal auditor, of a mass of documents relative to the conduct of the Old People's Home, had revealed no particular discrepancies at a late hour tonight, Mr. Williams said.

Reports that city police were investigating new phases of the meal ticket redemption scandal were denied by Detective Inspector John Thomson. This matter was the province of the select committee, he

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

REGINA, Sask., May 21.—Insurance against unemployment as a provincial measure is to be embodied in a bill to be brought down by the Government next session.

The Cabinet this morning discussed the subject. Following the meeting, Premier J. T. M. Anderson said much legislation was within the limits of the Provincial Government. Financial aid in the undertaking would be sought from the Dominion in the form of a grant, as in the case of education, the Premier said.

The parade will move off at 10:30 a.m. sharp.

Lords Approve Economic Unity By Resolution

LONDON, May 21.—The House of Lords tonight adopted, by 103 votes to twenty-five, a motion in favor of imperial economic unity—a term which Viscount Elibank, who moved it, declared he preferred to translate as Empire free trade.

"This House," so the resolution ran, "views with grave concern the serious and increasing depression manifesting itself in the manufacturing and the agricultural industries of this country, and the expanding figures of unemployment. This House is of the opinion that the most practical immediate remedies are to be found in a comprehensive policy of safeguarding and anti-dumping, and in imperial economic union."

Will Attempt to Break Refuelling Plane Record

TORONTO, May 21.—In an effort to break the refueling endurance record of 420 hours and 17 minutes created last year at St. Louis, four aviators who arrived here recently from Tulsa, Okla., will take to the air at Leaside Airport on June 5. The record seekers are Messrs. A. Thomas, Clarence B. White, Howard Andrews and O. L. Frame.

The long flight will be made during the Shriners' convention to be held in this city.

HUNDREDS OF VOLUNTEERS ARE INJURED

Indian Situation Takes Definite Turn for Worse—Salt Pans Form Chief Battleground

RUN ON BANK OF INDIA IS MADE

(Associated Press)

BOMBAY, India, May 21.—The Indian situation took a definite turn for the worse today as the Government viewed it, with the Nationalist campaign greatly increased in vigor and the resistance of the authorities stiffened proportionately.

The salt pans of Dharasana formed the chief battle ground and battles really occurred today, in contrast to the more or less mild contest of passive resistance that has taken place in the same place for a week.

Violence developed and some 600 volunteers were reported injured. In the first raid of the Nationalists today they split into two groups and while the police were beating back one offensive with sticks the others closed in on the barbed wire surrounding the salt pans. The second group also was driven off.

SECOND ATTACK

The second attack was conducted similarly. The first dramatic action on the part of authorities came with the arrest of Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, who headed the Nationalist campaign, following the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi and Abbas Tyabji.

Mrs. Naidu had been watching this morning's raid from a distance, since she had abstained from active participation following her arrest for a few moments last week, but when she approached the scene of the attackers she was taken into custody. Nanailah Gandhi, a son of the Mahatma, and other prominent volunteers shared a same fate.

Resigns Seat in Legislature

MR. W. F. KENNEDY
Member for North Okanagan.

MR. KENNEDY HAS RETIRED FROM HOUSE

Conservative Whip in Legislature Tenders Resignation—Polling Set for June 12

MEMBER SLATED FOR LIQUOR BOARD

Mr. William F. Kennedy, member of the Legislature for the riding of North Okanagan, has resigned his seat. There will be no delay on the part of the Government in filling the vacancy. Nomination has been set for Monday, June 2, with the poll on Thursday, June 12.

The resignation of Mr. Kennedy was duly filed with the Speaker of the Legislature, Hon. J. W. Jones, of South Okanagan, and in turn the Provincial Secretary, Hon. S. L. Howe, was acquainted with the fact, and Government action followed without delay.

The necessary proclamation concerning the coming election with the issue of the writ will be made in due course.

POPULAR WHIP

Mr. Kennedy has been a very popular member with his fellow representatives on both sides of the House. The leader of the Opposition, Dr. J. D. MacLean, in referring to Mr. Kennedy on one occasion, alluded to his jovial manner and happy countenance, which resembled the great apple, the McIntosh Red, which made his district so famous. As senior whip of the Conservative party he was most efficient, commanding at all times the highest esteem of the members of his party, and the respect of his opponents.

He was first elected to the Legislature in June, 1927, when a vacancy occurred owing to the sudden death in December, 1926, of Mr. A. O. Cochrane, Conservative member of the House, who had been elected at the by-election following the general election of 1924, when Dr. K. C. Macdonald was defeated on going back for re-election after being called to the Government.

RETURNED AGAIN

Mr. Kennedy filled out that Parliament with the highest credit to himself, and was again the candidate at the general election in 1928, when he was returned.

At this election Mr. Kennedy was opposed by Mr. P. W. Van Kleek, the Liberal candidate, and Mr. A. T.

Suggest Probe Of Naval Treaty By Committee

LONDON, May 21.—Former Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin today gave notice of a motion which calls for appointment of a select committee of eleven in the House of Commons to examine and report on the naval treaty.

He yielded in part, it is understood, to pressure of his back bench followers in the Conservative Party, who are dissatisfied with the treaty, particularly Part III.

The motion stands in the names of Mr. Baldwin, Sir Austen Chamberlain, Mr. Winton Churchill, and other prominent figures.

FOUR MEMBERS DUE FOR SENATE

Speaker Lemieux, Hon. J. E. Sinclair and Two Quebec Private Members May Leave House

By CHARLES LYNCH
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

OTTAWA, Ont., May 22.—In all probability the Canadian Parliament will be prorogued May 29, and dissolved a few days later, with the date of the general election set for July 28.

In an effort to speed up proceedings, the Government will move for morning sittings beginning next Saturday, which is Victoria Day, a national holiday.

It is expected that Hon. John E. Sinclair, Speaker Rodolphe Lemieux, Messrs. E. W. Tobin and Jules E. Prevost, all veteran members of the House of Commons, will be appointed to vacancies in the Senate.

The King Government, which has been in office since 1921, will seek re-election on the strength of its debt and tax reductions and its budget, which increases the tariff against the United States and lowers it against Great Britain.

The standing of the parties in the Commons is as follows: Liberals and Liberal Progressives, 134; Conservatives, 90; Labor, 2; United Farmers of Alberta and Progressives, 19.

INDUSTRIES OF B.C. REQUIRE TARIFF SHIELD

Speaking before the members of the McBride Conservative Club (Incorporated) in the Conservative rooms, Campbell Building, last night, Hon. J. Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, and Mr. H. D. Twigg, M.P.P., referred to some of the issues that were before the electorate at the coming Dominion election. This information was given by request of the club.

The Minister of Education, in referring to the speech of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, in which he said that not a five-cent piece would be given by his Government to assisting unemployment in provinces where Conservatives were in power, declared that in such a statement the Prime Minister of Canada had shown a lack of anything like a broad Canadian vision.

It promtped the necessity for the redrafting of the British North America Act. The matter of unemployment had become a national one now. Canada had become a nation, and as such she must face national questions in a broad way, which was lacking in its national character by the statement of Mr. King.

INDUSTRIES AND TARIFF

Another matter which was dealt with was the subject of encouraging industries. Provinces might do all they could to encourage industries, but the Federal Government would not allow the action to be fruitful, in that no protection would be afforded the industries which it was attempted to build up.

The progress of British Columbia, said Mr. Hinchliffe, lay largely along the line of industry. It was on the main highway of trade. Yet the Dominion would not lend its assistance to its carrying out. In this connection he alluded to the building up of the iron and steel industry in the United States.

The Liberals were beginning to have their faces turned in the direction of protection, but they appeared to be ashamed of themselves and had brought in a sort of nondescript

Mr. Lloyd George Gives Views on Union Proposal

MANCHESTER, Eng., May 21.—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader and former Coalition Prime Minister, has expressed himself in typical fashion on Foreign Minister Briand's scheme for a union of European nations.

In a speech here he remarked: "If he pulls it off I say, 'All blessings on his intellectual brow,' but I venture to say that as long as the nations of Europe maintain and multiply tariffs against each other, the idea of a European federation must remain futile and negative."

Arkansas Flood Refugees Are Seeking Shelter

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 21.—Confronted by continued rises in the Xuachita and Red Rivers and smaller tributary streams, the Red Cross today reinforced volunteer relief corps for any eventuality, as the crest of flood waters slowly moved toward the inundated areas.

Refugees grew in number in the Calion area, on the Ouachita River, twenty miles north of Eldorado, while further down the stream residents had made fast their furniture to homes and with a few personal belongings had fled to ask shelter of relief agencies.

In Miller County, in Southeast Arkansas, motorboats were taking whatever provisions were needed to marooned families, variously estimated at from 500 to 750 persons.

Japanese Business Men to Pay Visit to Canada

TOKIO, May 21.—Great interest has been aroused here by the announcement of a tour of Japanese businessmen and others, under Canadian auspices, of Canada, the United States and Hawaii, during the coming Summer. Some eighteen cities will be visited by the party, and they will travel by Canadian transportation throughout, except in the United States. They are scheduled to sail from Yokohama by the Empress of Canada on July 17 and to return to Yokohama on September 18 by the new queen of the Pacific, the Empress of Japan.

This is believed to be the first time in the history of transpacific travel for a tour by Japanese travelers to be organized under Canadian or any other foreign auspices.

SNOWDRIFTS BLOCK ROADS TO EDMONTON

Traffic Arteries at Albertan Capital Handicapped With Severe Storms

BLIZZARD ADDS TO DISCOMFORTS

(Canadian Press)

EDMONTON, Alta., May 21.—Roads leading to every Edmonton district were blocked with snowdrifts two and three feet high, farmers were rejoicing and city residents were none too well pleased, with broken auto radiators and impassable traffic arteries, as May 21 ushered in a snowfall that totaled four inches.

The snowfall left rural telephone lines broken, traffic was disorganized when deep drifts blocked highways and tender plants were damaged by a slight frost.

The storm extended from Peace River to Red Deer and from Jasper to Battleford. It was the heaviest May storm in a decade.

Adding to the general discomfort, the snow was driven by a howling northwesterly wind, which reached the velocity of forty-four miles an hour.

As reports filtered in through partially disrupted communication services, it became apparent that only the tender garden plants had been damaged by the frost, for the temperature dropped to 26 degrees above zero, and that farmers everywhere in the district affected were jubilant over the fall of much-needed moisture for the crops.

Clearing skies this afternoon and a steadily climbing barometer gave promise of more seasonable weather.

the sheep raising and not be stampeded into abandoning one thing for another. He believed the mixed farmer had the best chance under all circumstances and would achieve a sure success in the long run. Fruits, grain, vegetables, the raising of cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry, and the suppying of the creameries with butter, all provided splendid avenues of revenue.

The minister was pleased to introduce Master Fraser McKenzie, who is probably the youngest owner of a band of sheep in Canada. He is nine years of age and lives on the Sooke Road, where he has eight sheep and eight lambs, all Suffolks, which he has raised through his own exertions, earning the money to start with.

Declaring the annual gathering open, the Minister of Agriculture, with Mrs. Atkinson; Mr. J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture, and other officials of the department, were interested spectators of the grade lamb judging and the sheepshearing competitions, following which the prizes were graciously presented by Mrs. Atkinson, when Capt. Douglas Groves, president of the Vancouver Island Flockmasters' Association, of Duncan, the donors of the trophy for the best grade lamb, explained the reasons which prompted his association to offer it. It was to be a challenge cup, expressing the interest of the Duncan association in the local one, and with the sole objective of encouraging the better breeding of sheep. The judging had taken into account the value of type as well as of meat. What the rules governing the cup contest next year would be, would have to be in the discretion of the Metchosin association.

Mr. W. S. Benson, of Calgary, Western field representative of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Association, Weston, Ont., briefly outlined market conditions, and said the salvation of the wool industry depended upon the co-operation of every man owning sheep. The advantage of co-operating in the shipment of carload lots was obvious, as wool shipped in small lots was up against a rather heavy freight rate, which the article could not carry to advantage at the best of times, and certainly not with wool at its present price.

In addition to the members of the Department of Agriculture who attended, there were breeders from Saanich, Cobble Hill, Koksilah, Cowichan, Duncan, Comox and Denman Island, prominent among them being Captain Groves, Duncan; Mr. J. K. Harrop, representing the Flockmasters' Association locally, and one of the most noted breeders of Shropshire sheep in Canada; Mr. J. Dalziel, of Denman Island, representing the British Columbia Sheep Breeders' Association; Mr. Bert Young, of Koksilah, raiser of fine sheep stock, and "Mac" Dean, of Sidney. No idle curiosity made this most successful meeting possible. All were equally interested in the wool and mutton industry. The lamb winning the challenge cup was immediately purchased by Lock Brothers, of Esquimalt. The prizes donated by the Flockmasters' Association, business men of the city, and the Department of Agriculture, the latter being in cash.

In acknowledging the vote of thanks tendered himself and Mrs. Atkinson, the minister complimented Mrs. McVicker, the secretary, on the excellent organizing ability which she had displayed in preparing and carrying out the details of the day, and in this connection mentioned the president, Mr. W. Sweetman. During the afternoon, tea and cake were served to all desiring refreshments, by the association.

KEEN COMPETITION

Great interest was displayed in the grade lamb competition, as well as in the hand and machine contests in sheepshearing. Mr. J. A. Turner, Uplands, judged the former, and Dr. A. Knight, of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, and Mr. Arthur Morton, Dominion Livestock Branch, Vancouver, judged the sheepshearing. Points in the latter contests were awarded as follows: Manner of shearing, 15; finished condition of sheep, 20; absence of cuts on sheep, 20; absence of seconds cuts in wool, 25; time, 10; preparation of fleece for market, 10.

In the open machine shearing, Mr. James Rannie was first, with 93; Mr. E. Eccleston second, with 92, and Mr. P. Thornett third, with 83. In the open hand shearing, Mr. William Robinson took first prize, with 90; Mr. C. Harrison, second, with 89, and Mr. C. Ecclestone third, with 88. In the novice hand shearing, Mr. George Ball was first, with 90, and Mr. James Rogers second, with 88. In the novice machine shearing, Mr. F. Reid won first place, with 89, and Mr. D. Harrison second, with 87.

The winner of the lamb grade contest was the Miller Ranch, with a Suffolk grade; Miss E. Cudmore, with a Southdown grade, was second, and Mr. R. W. Robinson, with an Oxford grade, was third.

ELECTION IS EXPECTED IN OLD COUNTRY

changes from Conservative to Independent and then to the Labor ranks.

When Sir Oswald arose to read a letter which he had sent to the Prime Minister assuring him of his continued support by vote in the House, but reserving freedom of action to advocate the policy which he felt the most effective in dealing with unemployment and depression, the House heard it in silence.

"As a back bencher I will still support the Government," said Mosley, but the House allowed him to pass into the wilderness without any outward signs of regret.

When the meeting of the Parliamentary Labor Party is resumed tomorrow, the chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, as he still is until formally replaced, will move a resolution disapproving the Government's unemployment policy. The Labor members expect Mr. MacDonald will demand a vote of confidence and will tell the party that unless the vote is forthcoming and Sir Oswald's resolution withdrawn, he will immediately advise the King to dissolve Parliament, in other words, go to the country.

Meanwhile there is much speculation regarding the attitude of Mr. Thomas, whose resignation would not come as a surprise. Whatever the upshot of tomorrow's meeting, no successor to Sir Oswald Mosley will be appointed for a time.

Mr. MacDonald is only awaiting publication of the Simon report on India before carrying out a necessary re-arrangement of his Government to make room for Rt. Hon. Vernon Hartshorn, who was Postmaster-General in the 1924 Labor Cabinet, and Mr. C. R. Attlee. Both were Labor representatives on the Simon commission.

The latest unemployment figures continue to registrar an increase. Wholly unemployed and those temporarily out of work now number 634,000 more than a year ago.

Conservative members are demanding their party fight for dissolution of Parliament, and matters are coming to a head within the Labor party. Left-wingers are generously interpreting the resolutions of the Independent Labor party as being virtually in favor of open revolt.

Fifteen of these left-wingers abstained from voting during Monday's critical division on the salary of Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal and Minister of Employment.

Pilgrim Ship Afire

LONDON, May 22.—Lloyd's received a message this morning from Port Sudan, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, saying the French steamer Asia was afire with 1,500 pilgrims aboard.

"We fear some loss of life," the message said. It said the pilgrims, bound for Red Sea ports, embarked yesterday and that the fire began at 8 o'clock last night. Port Sudan relayed the message from Jeddah.

New Ambition for All Past Forty

Says Vigor, Energy, Ability and Healthy Vitality Should Not Be Confined to Youthful Days

Most people, from childhood, carelessly disregard and neglect their nerves. At forty, or thereabouts, they begin to pay the penalty. They lose ambition, life's youthful pleasures seem to pall, they tire easily, can't concentrate, have fits of blues and trembling, get nervous headaches or dyspepsia and lose their pep and full, firm grip on life.

Depleted nerve force is dangerous, and nerve prostration awaits those who disregard its early warning. But now, thanks to modern medical science, nerve force may easily, safely and quickly be brought back to normal, so that men and women of forty, fifty, sixty or even older, may again enjoy the youthful nerve strength, vigor and energy of half their age.

A preparation known as Erbac (double strength) is now being stocked and highly recommended by leading druggists everywhere. Not a cure-all, sland treatment, or habit forming stimulant, but a positive nerve food and vitalizing agent. A twenty days' use of Erbac (double strength) is guaranteed to bring a tremendous increase in nerve force and energy to any man or woman past forty, or its cost will promptly be refunded.

No fairer offer was ever made. To prove you can be young—stay young—strong—vital—costs but 10 cents a day. If you succeed—not a penny if you fail. Have you the courage to make the trial? Then ask your druggist for a sealed package of double strength Erbac and begin today. (Advt.)

MR. KENNEDY HAS RETIRED FROM HOUSE

Howe, who ran as an independent. The votes cast showed the following result: Mr. Kennedy, 2,361; Mr. Van Kleek, 1,881; Mr. Howe, 126.

Among the most probable names mentioned to receive the Conservative nomination is that of Mr. George Heggie, well known in the district in connection with the Belgian Orchard Syndicate, of which he is manager.

While there has been no announcement of the selection of the member for North Okanagan as a member of the Liquor Control Board, his resignation from the House is regarded as a preparatory step to his appointment as one of the commissioners. Mr. H. B. Thomson is expected to be another appointee, probably as chairman.

The matter has not been officially considered as yet by the Government, says Dr. S. F. Tolmie, the Premier.

Coming under the department of the Attorney-General, the appointment of the members of the board will not take place until after Mr. Pooley returns from his holidays. The Premier's announcement is that it is not likely to be decided until some little time after the return of Mr. Pooley.

Reports that Mr. Hugh Davidson, the present commissioner, has been dismissed, are without foundation, the Premier says.

The King Receives Mr. John Masefield

LONDON, May 21.—The King today received Mr. John Masefield, the new Poet Laureate, at Buckingham Palace.

A large crowd gathered outside the railings and gateway to see the man who, once a "hobo" and formerly a saloon porter and sailor, had risen to such eminence in literature as to earn the highest mark of recognition from royalty.

Mr. Masefield, though naturally retiring, possesses a sense of kindly humor, and when he found a band of press and moving picture photographers confronting him at the gates, good-naturedly posed for them.

INTERESTING FIGHT LIKELY IN SCOTLAND

Five Candidates May Run for Seat Made Vacant by Death of Hon. John Wheatley

NO HINT YET OF LIBERAL ENTRANT

(Canadian Press Cable)

GLASGOW, May 20.—Scotland will see what promises to be its most interesting election fight in years in the Shettleston Division of Glasgow, rendered vacant by the recent death of the Rt. Hon. John Wheatley, Labor member. There will probably be five candidates; the Conservative and the regular Labor nominees, two Communists and a Scottish Nationalist. So far, there has been no hint of a Liberal appearance.

The Conservative candidate has been nominated. He is Mr. W. P. Templeton, a wood-turner by trade, and a staunch adherent of the Conservative safeguarding and Empire free trade policy. Mr. Templeton was the member for Banffshire from 1924 to 1929, and has a strong appeal as a workingman's candidate.

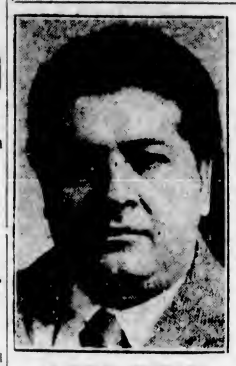

Labor has not chosen its man yet, suffering from an embarrasing number of aspirants to the Wheatley mantle. The Nationalists have adopted Mr. John M. McArthur. An Independent Communist, Mr. Guy Aldred, is already in the field, but most picturesque of all the candidates will be the regular Communist candidate, Mr. Shapurji Saklatvala, who represented the North Battersea Division as a Communist in 1922-23 and from 1924 to 1929.

Mr. Saklatvala is a man of great courage with many revolutionary associations and has run foul of the authorities many times.

president of the Legislative Assembly, who was at Untaldi Camp, near Dharasana, tonight, after a day full of incidents.

His intentions this morning was to leave the Bombay train at Dungari, which is the nearest station to Dharasana, but the train did not stop. When it roared on through Patel pulled the alarm cord, but no notice was taken of the signal. He finally alighted at Bulsar, and from there motored to Untaldi, visiting the camp hospital, where 300 injured volunteers were under treatment. He continued by motor to meet Mrs. Naidu.

THIRTY-SIX ARRESTED

SIMLA, India, May 21.—Thirty-six prominent Nationals leaders today were arrested at Whelum, according to a telephone message received here this evening. The arrests were made in the connection with a procession which was going to the railway station to meet Pandit Malaviya, journeying to Murree, in the Peshawar district. Malaviya's mission to relieve those who had suffered in the rioting some weeks ago in Peshawar. The authorities stopped the procession and ordered the Congress members to disperse. They refused and the arrests followed.

RUN ON BANK

BOMBAY, India, May 21.—Excited crowds executed a run on the Bank of India, an Indian-owned concern today of many hundreds of depositors swarmed about the bank demanding their funds. The excitement was caused by a report that the manager of the bank, Mr. A. G. Gray, took part as an auxiliary officer in an action against Congress members at Wadala and Congress House.

Mr. Gray's emphatic denials failed to check the run.

The run on the bank continued until this afternoon when business closed for the day. The Board of Directors will meet tomorrow to consider the allegation made against the manager of the bank.

said, and unless instructed, the police did not intervene.

Accounts and books of the married men's relief section of the relief office were reported by auditors to be in good order as far as the audit had progressed. This department came under the supervision of Messrs. J. H. McCashin and George Pyke.

Mayor W. H. Malkin today instructed Helliwell, MacLachlan & Company, special auditors, to proceed at once with a complete audit of all civic departments. His Worship impressed the auditors with the need to carry out the audit with all possible dispatch and thoroughness.

TO PRECLUDE REPETITION

"In a very short time every civic department will be in shape to compare with the best managed private business," Mayor Malkin said. "A system of accounting will be carried out throughout all branches of civic activity, which will preclude any possibility of repetition of the present deplorable condition."

George D. Ireland, dismissed city relief officer, and G. S. Wrinkle and F. F. Kennedy, restaurant proprietors, arrested in connection with relief department irregularities, were remanded for one week when they appeared in police court this morning.

TORONTO, May 21.—The Toronto Anglican Synod, by a vote of 111-85, has gone on record as favoring the establishment of civil marriages in Ontario. The synod adopted a resolution to this effect after a spirited debate, and after rejecting a plea by Bishop Sweeney that the question be left to the executive.

SCHUBERT CLUB RENOWN GROWS

FINE MUSICAL TREAT PROVIDED BY MEMBERS IN FIFTEENTH CONCERT

Highwayman, First Time Heard in Western Canada, Is Feature of Programme

That the Schubert Club now holds a very high place in the musical world was recognized last evening by a large and enthusiastic audience at the Shrine Auditorium, when the fifteenth concert was given under the skilful and judicious guidance of Mr. Frederic King. The opening number of the programme was "Hark! Hark! the Lark" (Schubert), sung in very finished style by the choir, who showed meticulous attention to phrasing, nuance, intonation and the movement of the baton. Sopranos, mezzo-sopranos and contraltos blended in perfect harmony, and there was a pleasing balance and sublimation of one part to another when occasion demanded. Throughout the entire programme the choir showed a fine esprit de corps and co-operation in their work, and Mrs. Paul Green and Miss Eileen Dumbleton were sympathetic and able accompanists.

The second number, "Hush Song," words by C. Rossetti and music by Sydney Northoote, was a contrast to the former number, and displayed the rare tonal qualities of the choir, bringing out a rhythmic legato that was particularly noteworthy.

BOUQUETS PRESENTED

Mrs. Gladys Slark, contralto, sang the solo in the number, "To Music" (Schubert), the choir making a rich background of song. As an encore "Spring" (Gustave Holst), one of the test pieces in the recent music festival, a light and animated selection, was given, the soloist and accompanist, Mrs. Green, receiving beautiful bouquets. Miss Dumbleton was also presented with a bouquet.

Mr. J. Watkin Mossman, of Vancouver, who possesses an obviously well trained voice of distinctly pleasing quality contributed a solo group which included Lehman's "Myself When Young" (Persian Garden), Handel's "Droop Not, Young Lover" and Schumann's "Tears and Sigh," giving as an encore "Hear Me, Ye Winds and Waves" (Handel), which suited his rich bass-baritone to perfection. His second group included "Sea Moods" (Catford), the old English song "False Phyllis" (Wilson) and "Old Clothes, and Fine Clothes" (Shaw), and as an encore he gave "Molly Brannigan" (Villiers Stanford), a delightful Irish number. Two Scottish numbers, "Oer the Moor" and "The Deil's Awa'" (Burns), were included in the final group, and, responding to enthusiastic applause, he gave "The Wee Cooper of Fife."

Miss Adele Bucklin, violinist, who needs no introduction to Victoria audiences, added fresh laurels to her brow last evening with her two numbers "Andantino" (Martini-Kreisler) and "Sicilienne and Rigaudon" (Francoeur-Kreisler), the latter showing exceptional swilful bowing and depth of tone. As an encore she played "Cradle Song" (Hauser).

"THE HIGHWAYMAN"

Outstanding in the programme was the rendering of the beautiful cantata, "The Highwayman," the words of which were written by Alfred Noyes and the music composed and arranged by Deems Taylor, the New York composer and conductor, for a baritone solo and three-part ladies' chorus. This cantata was heard last night for the first time in Western Canada, and made a great appeal to the audience.

Mr. Watkin Mossman, as soloist, was given scope for his dramatic ability, and the chorus displayed intelligent understanding and appreciation of the work in hand and a feeling for the sense of the music and words. The first part was particularly dramatic and a most able stringed orchestra which played the accompaniment, combined the perfect background of the ladies' voices to make this a notable presentation in the history of the Schubert Club. The orchestra comprised Mr. A. Prescott, Miss Adele Bucklin, Mrs. F. G. Aldous and Miss Neva Stewart, first violins; Capt. M. Darlin and Mr. D. McPherson, second violins; Miss Wilkinson, viola; Mr. Gordon Shaw and Mr. H. H. Hinton violincellos, and Mr. Hodder, bass.

The Schubert Club was congratulated upon winning second place in the Music Festival ladies' choir class.

Veterans' Insurance Is Not Subject to Succession Duties

VANCOUVER, May 21.—Returned soldiers' insurance is not subject to succession duty according to a Supreme Court decision of Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald.

The point was raised in the estate of Mr. Ian Dundas Todd, British Columbia Electric Railway Company engineer, who was killed at Ruskin on December 16. Mr. Todd left a net estate of $12,700, which included $4,476 of a $5,000 insurance policy, issued by the Dominion of Canada under the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act.

The Department of Finance, Victoria, taxed the insurance $233 for succession duty.

Appearing for the Department of Finance, Mr. Eric Pepler, departmental solicitor, argued that the only insurance which escapes succession duty is that left to a preferred beneficiary, such as wife, child or parents. The insurance in question was left to the deceased man's brother.

His Lordship said that the Dominion Government provided the insurance free of cost for returned men, and he did not think those policies should be taxed for the benefit of the province.

"It may not be good law; but it satisfied my conscience," remarked Mr. Justice McDonald.

MINISTER TO CANADA APPOINTED

The minister married Miss Margaret McAuley, of Mason City, in 1925, and has two sons, Tom and Jack.

NATIONAL PROMINENCE

Colonel MacNider achieved national prominence largely through his military record.

From the grade of first lieutenant in the Iowa National Guard, in which he was commissioned in 1916, he achieved the high post of Assistant Secretary of War and national commander of the American Legion.

War Department records show that Colonel MacNider first served as lieutenant with Company A, 2nd Infantry, Iowa National Guard, reporting at Mason City, Iowa, on June 20, 1926, for Mexican border duty. In the Federal service he served at Brownsville, Texas, until March 4, 1917.

ASSIGNED TO ACTIVE DUTY

He trained in the first officers' training camp at Fort Snelling, Minn., and received his appointment as second lieutenant of infantry, Officers' Reserve Corps, on August 15, 1917, and was immediately assigned to active duty.

He sailed for France on September 7, 1917, with the 9th Infantry, Second Division, and was promoted to captain on July 18, 1918. As adjutant of the 19th Infantry he served in the Aisne defensive, Chateau Thierry defensive, Aisne-Marne offensive, Marbache and Limey defensive, and the St. Michiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives.

LAUDS COL. MacNIDER

MONTREAL, May 21.—Col. Hanford MacNider will make a very distinguished representative of the United States in Canada, in the opinion of Hon. Vincent Massey, newly appointed Canadian High Commissioner in Great Britain and for the past several years Canadian Minister at Washington.

Hon. Mr. Massey is in Montreal to attend sessions of the Royal Society of Canada.

"I had the pleasure of knowing Mr. MacNider at Washington when he was a member of President Coolidge's administration," Hon. Mr. Massey said, "and I know that his qualities are such as to make him very welcome in Canada indeed. He had a wide experience during his career, has a distinguished record as an officer in the American Expeditionary Forces during the Great War, and has held many high public offices in Washington during recent years."

policy which provided contravailing duties. This meant that they would follow in the wake of the United States duties imposed, the latter setting the pace.

TARIFF ISSUE

The minister said that he believed that this question of protection would be the real one before the people at the coming election. On this subject he said that some were inclined to ask whether protection would not increase the cost of an article to the people of Canada. That might be so, or it might not, said Mr. Hinchliffe. On the other hand, it sometimes paid to pay more for an article if there were other advantages coming from it.

In this line he instanced the case of a merchant in Victoria complaining that the people of Saanich did not buy from him. When asked if he bought the Saanich-produced fruit, this merchant replied he did not. This, said the speaker, was a point at issue. If the merchant bought the locally produced fruit, there would be more money circulating among the people of the district and all would gain.

Dealing with the matter of the old age pension, the minister said that it appeared, to him that this was something that was national in its application. A man would be paid a pension because he had done something to build up Canada, even if he lived at different times in different provinces. The province was not to be charged with the cost, but rather the Dominion.

There were lines in which there might be better adjustments made between the provinces and the Dominion, looking to the granting of relief. As an instance, it was complained that liquor was too costly. If the Dominion were to lessen its collections from the liquor it might be possible to reduce the prices in the provinces.

He also was of the opinion that the collection of income taxes might be left to the provinces alone, instead of the Dominion also collecting such a tax. It was the only form of taxation left to the provinces, while the Dominion had many others.

MR. H. D. TWIGG

Mr. Twigg sufficed with a short address following the longer one by the Minister of Education.

He alluded to the fact that the Liberals had taken exception to what they described as the Conservative policy with regard to protection of "brick for brick."

Mr. Twigg felt that British Columbia would have to fight for itself in future as never before. He alluded to the railway lines in the other provinces running north and south, and built also to carry the trade of the country to Eastern Canada. He pointed out that it was well nigh impossible for the trade of British Columbia to meet with the East in a competitive way. It was necessary for her to look to the West.

EAST LOOKS AFTER SELF

The Dominion was not doing anything to assist the province in its trade with Australia in the matter of timber, nor with the Orient. There was nothing being done to give the province direct connection with the West Indies, as was done for Eastern Canada.

There was great disposition to follow the letter of the B.N.A. Act, rather than the spirit of it, Mr. Twigg said.

Mr. Hugh Allan, president of the club, presided, and thanked the speakers for their addresses.

MR. G. PINCHOT NOW LEADING

(Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—Mr. Gifford Pinchot, independent Republican candidate for governor, led Mr. Francis Brown by 10,000 votes on the face of unofficial returns from all but 212 districts in Pennsylvania in yesterday's primary.

The late returns swelled the overwhelmingly plurality of Secretary of Labor Davis over Senator Joseph R. Grundy to more than 238,000 for the senatorial nomination.

DISARMING GREAT BRITAIN

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's Government, by its actions during the course of the London Naval Conference, has temporarily put an end to new British naval construction. The situation that remains with the signing of the Three-Power Treaty is a disquieting one from the standpoint of British naval needs. Great Britain has fifty-eight cruisers built or building. Thirty-six of these vessels become obsolete through age by 1933, which means Great Britain would be left with twenty-two cruisers. A couple of years ago the minimum cruiser requirements for Empire defence were considered to be seventy vessels. This number was reduced to fifty by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald as a gesture of good will when the London Naval Conference was in session. To meet the requirements provided for in the Three-Power Treaty Great Britain should lay down twenty-eight cruisers by the end of 1933 if she is to have fifty efficient warships of this type in 1936. There is no indication that the Labor Government has any intention of doing this.

Great Britain now has 166 flotilla leaders and destroyers built, and building. By the end of 1936 no fewer than 146 of these become obsolete through age, which would leave Great Britain with twenty of this class of vessel. The Naval Treaty allots Great Britain 108 of the destroyer type. They take two years to build so that by 1934 Great Britain should have laid down eighty-eight destroyers and flotilla leaders. The Royal Navy now has sixty-three sumarines built, or building. By the end of 1936 thirty-eight of these will become obsolete, so that the strength in this class will be twenty-five. To fulfil the terms of the treaty Great Britain would have to lay down five more submarines by the end of 1934 because they take two years to construct.

It is small wonder that there is a growing sentiment in Great Britain in opposition to the Labor Government's attitude towards the Royal Navy. Mr. Ramsay MacDonald has never given the faintest hint of what policy he intends to pursue to implement the Three-Power Treaty. He has ceased construction on new cruisers which are essential for replacement purposes. He is allowing the British Navy to become a mere skeleton of its former self in his desire to placate the jealousies of other Powers. It is absolutely certain that both the United States and Japan will see to it that the full strengths they are allowed under the London Treaty will be maintained by up-to-date vessels. The present course of events indicates that Great Britain's Labor Government does not intend that Great Britain should have naval parity with the United States.

THE MALAHAT DRIVE

Impatience with conditions on the Malahat Drive is only evinced by those who know little or nothing of road construction. The Department of Public Works has set itself to the task of making this roadway as safe as any in the province. During the process it is doing its utmost to keep traffic moving all the time. This is a difficult task. Bad corners are being eradicated, and so that this can be done there is considerable blasting, a plant has to be established at the location of the work, holes have to be drilled, the rock blasted and then the debris removed for use as filling material on curves above ravines. This is all a part of the widening and the straightening out of the road at corners.

Already a great deal has been accomplished. The approach to and beyond the water trough at the far end of the Malahat has been widened. Heavy work has been done at Look-Out Point, where improvements effected provide ample parking space for those anxious to admire the scenery. There is a lot of work, and of a heavy character, in progress down to the Bamberton Crossroad which, when completed, will greatly enhance safety conditions on the Drive. Were the Malahat closed while all these improvements are being effected they could be finished in a comparatively short time. Traffic demands, however, are so insistent at this time of the year that the Department of Public Works is doing its utmost to accommodate the public. Since the present improvements began the roadway has only been closed twice, once for twelve hours and the other time for two hours, when heavy blasting was in operation.

Mr. N. S. Lougheed, the responsible minister, Mr. Patrick Philip, his deputy, and the engineering and construction staffs are to be congratulated on the manner in which the work is proceeding and because of the minimum of inconvenience that has been caused to the traveling public. The improvements are being carried out in thorough fashion and they are of a character which can be maintained. In the aggregate they will add greatly to the value of the Drive and encourage an increase in traffic. The aim in view is to have the present programme completed by the time the heavy Summer traffic commences. When it is done it will be a source of pleasure and satisfaction to all users of the road whether they be our own people or visitors in our midst.

MR. T. D. PATTULLO'S PROBLEM

The vacancy in the Senate created by the death of Mr. Hewitt Bostock is to be filled by Dr. J. H. King, the present Minister of Health and Pensions. That is regarded as a foregone conclusion for it is Dr. King's desire to leave the Federal Cabinet. Dr. King is at present the Member for East Kootenay, a seat which he has held ever since entering the House of Commons and he has held it by his personal popularity. His absence as a candidate will give the Conservatives an excellent opportunity of making a gain in British Columbia where they now hold twelve seats out of the fourteen.

If, as seems certain, Dr. King resigns his Cabinet position and is chosen for the Senate British Columbia will have no Cabinet Minister at Ottawa. The deficiency, however, will be made good, and probably before the Federal election is held in the coming Summer. Report has it that Mr. T. D. Pattullo, the leader of the Provincial Liberals, will be chosen as a Cabinet Minister and that he will assume the new portfolio of Fisheries which is being provided for at the present session of Parliament. The next step for Mr. Pattullo would be to choose a constituency to contest in this province. He would probably have the choice of East Kootenay, Vancouver Centre or Prince Rupert, with a preference for one or other of the latter two.

Mr. Pattullo's absence from provincial politics would be missed. He is popular, and, since being chosen as leader of the provincial Liberals, he has acquired a good deal of political ballast. He is well informed on provincial conditions, although up to date he has not paid any particular attention to fisheries, the portfolio which he is likely to have to administer. He has been in the forefront of the political life of this province for the last fourteen years and his translation to Ottawa would be in the natural sequence of events. His problem, however, would be to choose a constituency in which he could be elected. Judging from Liberal experience in British Columbia in late years that will be a difficult task, especially since this province is no longer susceptible to being bribed into changing its political faith by the promise of Cabinet representation.

RADIUM ORES

Radium costs £10,000 for a gramme. The excessive price is due to the so-called monopoly of radium-bearing ore in the Congo, which is a Belgian possession. Now an old prospector for gold who has worked extensively in Australia claims radium ores abound there but there is no disposition to produce from them. The country to the east and north of Flinders Range in South Australia carries reefs of radio-active ores. Northcasterly from this district towards the Queensland boundary there are miles of reefs of similar character. The Glaneig hill in West Australia also carry radio-active ores. There are as well ridges in New Guinea with unmistakable signs of radio activity. This is of particular interest since the Commonwealth recently purchased $500,000 worth of radium. The shortage of the substance and its great price has led to the appointment of a British Commission to search the Empire for radium.

London's toll of death from street tragedies reached 1,362 in 1929. For the first three months of the present year there were over 300 deaths and the problem of increasing casualties is worrying the traffic authorities. In the United States 600 citizens are killed by motor cars weekly, and it is estimated that in New York alone a person is run over every fifteen minutes. All the traffic regulations that are devised do not seem to reduce the incidence of death from misadventure. On the contrary, the traffic death rate is increasing all the time. It is a blot on legislative ability that greater safety for life and limb cannot be insured.

One solution for the wheat situation in this country is a move towards lowering the high cost of producing wheat. If this were done the Dominion's product would be on a better footing to meet competition. The concept that the world must have Canada's wheat is exploded. It can do without it unless it is sold at the current market price. Our Wheat Pool, and others interested, should wake up and realize that both Europe and South American countries are increasing their production, improving the standard of their wheat and producing at a lower cost all the time.

Not a move has been made during the present session of the Federal Parliament to forward a policy which will prevent a recurrence of conditions that have left such a large surplus stock of wheat in Canada during the last two years. A government is bankrupt in vision when it does nothing to right an economic situation that has adversely effected almost every aspect of material prosperity in the country.

THE HEART'S PARADISE

At the end of all wrong roads I came
To the gates of the garden without a name.
There, till the spell should fail, I found
Sudden Elysium, strange with sound
Of unknown birds and waters wild
With voices unresolved for rest.
There every flower was fancy's child,
And every tree was glory's guest;
And Love, by darkness undefiled,
Went like the sun from east to west.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Whence is thy learning? Hath thy toil o'er books consumed the midnight oil?
Delightful task! to rear the tender thought,
To teach the young idea how to shoot!

We have received two letters indicative of the complexity of educational problems. After reading the letters we hardly knew what to do with them, because if we print one of the letters we shall be charged with opposing reforms and improvements in our modern system of education, and if we print the other we may be charged with suggesting that the bounds of our modern system of education be made even wider yet. Here is the first letter, which we give precedence because it is the shorter of the two:

Dear R. B. D.—The other day I was taking a few moments' relaxation on the beach near Cook Street, with my little girl. Suddenly the child cried out that she was hurt, from a big stone thrown by a boy from the top of the cliff. A heavy bruise developed at the top of her spine. Had the stone been just a little larger, no doubt there would have been serious injury, if not worse. Even now I do not know if the bruise is the entire hurt.

Perhaps you may find time to write one of your eloquent little articles on the danger of careless stone-throwing.

M. J. ORD.

1005 Cook Street, Victoria, B.C., May 20, 1930.

The forefathers of the modern boys were fighting animals. They had to fight in order to live; and we suppose they fought their adversaries with stones, because stones were the weapons immediately ready to their hands. Clubs were not so easily come by, because they were products of the manufacturing art and arts, whether crude or fine, were not cultivated in those days. So the inherited instinct of the modern boy when he sees a stone is to pick it up and throw it at some object for the purpose of demonstrating his skill as a marksman. We have seen boys who are men if still in the land of the living throwing stones at inanimate things; we have even seen such boys throwing stones at other boys; but we never saw one of the older boys throwing stones at little girls.

We do not know whether the apparent difference between the conduct of the old boys and the conduct of modern boys was due to natural chivalry or to education and instruction. Our modern boys, we know, are taught to be kind to animals. We wonder if they are ever taught to be kind and gentle in their treatment of the weaker animals of their own kind. Our modern complex system of education, basing our opinion on one of the letters we publish today and on another letter published a few days ago, seems to be lacking in one simple thing. It is paying a great deal of attention to the brutality of war and little attention to the brutal treatment of small boys by big boys. Yet the individual bully is quite as reprehensible in his methods as the national bully. To many a small boy he is the terror who stalks by day.

The other letter is not, strictly speaking, a letter at all. It is a short and sarcastic marginal comment on the following prospectus:

A meeting of members and prospective members of the New Education Fellowship will be held in the library of Victoria College, Tuesday, May 27, at 8.15 p.m., with a view to determining and defining the lines of activity which the Victoria Centre might most profitably pursue.

Points to be considered: 1. Two meetings monthly: (a) Public, (b) Membership study groups. Fixed dates to be agreed upon. 2. Speakers for public meetings: Outstanding educationists; Individual experimenters; Study group members on current educational experiments and tendencies. 3. Objective of membership study:(a) Local problems and how to solve them; (b) Specific educational experiments involving new education principles—how to apply these locally. 4. Proposal to subscribe to French, German and Belgian magazines, affiliated to the N.E.F., and to progressive education. 5. Junior membership for creative activities.

We do not suppose the members of the new Educational Fellowship will object to the publication of the programme they have prepared for the advancement of the cause of education and improvement of the status of the educators. There are two subjects on the "agenda" that the people who pay for education should be interested in. These are: "Local problems and how to solve them"; "Specific educational experiments involving new educational principles and how to apply these locally." What with our universities and all the lower seats of learning affiliated therewith, these two problems are worrying the people who are grievously taxed to maintain those institutions. The first problem is the increasing complexity and the growing expense of education. The second problem is the value of the fruits of a modern educational system which is increasing in complexity and cost. For the lecturers on higher education never appear to consider the point of view of the taxpayer a matter that should be given the slightest consideration; they never seem to think of the parable of the tree that yielded nothing but leaves, which was cut down and cast in the fire and a tree of another kind planted in the ground it cumbered.

Discussing this subject, The Winnipeg Tribune of a recent date says:

The public has got into the habit of taking education, for which it pays enormous sums, too much for granted. And the authorities, while willing to admit that all is not right, rarely get beyond that stage.

The basic trouble today is that almost everybody accepts blindly the virtues of universal education, authorized and paid for out of public funds, without enquiring as to whether it is producing what it is expected to produce.

Sir,—May I add my thanks to that of the other members of the Gordon McLeod English Players for many acts of consideration and kindness together with unstinted help I have received from the host of friends we have made in Victoria.

It will be a long time before we will be able to forget the charming courtesy and hospitality that has been extended to us, and those of us who have to leave this beautiful corner of the Empire will always have a wonderful memory of the charm, culture and enthusiastic warmth which have been displayed to us English artists.

A STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL

Sir,—I notice a letter in your paper containing a "Strawberry Festival" idea. Until quite recently I have been for several years away from Victoria, much of the time, at least. I can speak only from a knowledge of advertising principle, some of this mere journalism schools acknowledge, but I would like to at least suggest to the people of this, the city I have for years called my home city, that they consider, in any plans for a "Strawberry Festival," the type of thing associated, in the minds of a great many of the people to whom advertising would go, with those very words—that is, an old-fashioned, strawberry shortcake-y, Japanese lanterny type of "party"—a restful thing, the sort at which great numbers of people could meet their old friends, sit about when tired, even have the adventure of making new friends; quite possibly a large part of the thrill of the "Strawberry Festival" of the old days.

I believe advertising featuring this old-fashioned idea, tied in with the name of a city beloved even by casual passersby for its hominess, would have more pull than advertising stressing the usual commercial sort of thing, and that it would draw more people from that 10 per cent known as the leader percentage.

Yates Street, mentioned in the letter to which I refer, would, of course, have a part in such a celebration; so would the various other business streets with historical association in which the type of tourist to which I refer is apt to delight, if it is put before him and his wife—but for a city with such garden possibilities as Victoria's, With Beacon Hill almost within a stone's throw, to stage a festival called a "Strawberry Festival" on a city street—well, perhaps there is room for two types of entertainment, certainly the boulevard cafe idea is much liked; quite probably there is room for the two types! but there unquestionably is advertising for Victoria in something simply fine to which the people of the surrounding cities are invited, some part of it to be held in a park known to be a place in which profit cannot be taken. At least, the surprise element would enter in.

I believe it is generally acknowledged by students of community advertising that the number of people drawn in, to a considerable extent, of somewhat secondary importance. In a city with individuality in its well-advertised specialties — the English woolens, the Irish linens, etc.—the group known as the 10 per cent who lead are the buyers who leave the most money when they go. A very little extra urging to come is often all that is needed, but it must be urging that appeals. And there are many urgings.

PREMIER MAKES SHARP DENIAL

Quebec Government Leader Says He Will Not Interfere With Education in Saskatchewan

(Canadian Press)

QUEBEC, Que., May 21.—Vigorous denial of any interference or attempt at interference with the educational affairs of Saskatchewan, was given this morning by Premier Taschereau in response to a declaration by Premier Anderson of that province, who announced that he would not tolerate any meddling by Quebec in the school problems of Saskatchewan.

"I don't know the cause of this announcement on the part of Premier Anderson," said Premier Taschereau. We have not been meddling and the only reference made to the question was during the passage of the Jewish school bill at the last session of the Legislature. Education in Canada as a whole was referred to by those who took part in the discussion, and I expressed the hope that the same spirit of Liberalism shown by the Province of Qubec toward its Jewish citizens would be emulated by Saskatchewan or any of the other provinces which had similiar problems to deal with.

"It is not my desire to interfere and I will not interfere in this matter," he continued, "but if Premier Anderson's aim is to stir up racial antagonism, he has certainly missed his mark."

COMMONS REJECTS MEMBER'S MOTION

OTTAWA, Ont., May 21.—The House of Commons today rejected a motion sponsored by Mr. Milton Campbell (U.F.A., McKenzie), which asked "for a copy of all reports, correspondence, and other documents in connection with the recent inspection of the books of the American Furniture Company, by officers of the Department of National Revenue, in connection with the increase in valuation of furniture imports from the United States."

Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue, declared that he understood that a report on this matter had been received by the department. However, it was contrary to department practice to disclose the business of any firm.

The Speaker called for "Yeas" and "Nays," and Mr. Campbell's request was refused.

The Rhyming Optimist

MUSIC

Always there was music
On this joyous sphere,
Long before man's lyrics
Sounded sweet and clear.

Always there was singing
Surf upon the shore,
Herpist winds through pine trees
Let their brave notes soar.

Earth was never quiet;
From primeval dawn
Lilting, liquid measures
Have gone singing on.

Song was here to welcome
Man when first he stood
By the calling water,
In the whispering wood.

Always there was music
Since the world began,
And its echoes linger
In the heart of man.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

TRADING DESULTORY UPON BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, May 21.—The bond market slipped back into a rut today. Trading was desultory and price changes were confined within narrow limits. Sales fell off.

A few rails attracted the most attention, but the largest dealings continued in convertibles.

Some issues held steady, a few went ahead by small fractions, and others suffered slight recessions.

Baltimore & Ohio 5s and Rock Island 4 1-2s were steady to firm.

Utilities were almost uniformly firm in contrast with the irregular aspects of the whole market. The best demand was for American Telephone 5s, International Telephone 5s, and Pacific Gas and Electric.

The most popular stock privilege issues receded slightly, notably Amerik Telephone 4 1-2s.

Foreign bonds were irregular. There was little demand for United States Governments, sales being confined to Liberty issues.

New financing totaled $27,340,000 for the day. The First National-Bank of Montreal group was awarded the $30,000,000 Ontario 4 1-2 per cent bond issue, at 94.41.

Saanich Arm Salmon Fishing to Benefit

The city has been notified by Mr. J. H. Castley, superintendent of the Dominion Government hatchery at Cowichan Lake, that 20,000 additional spring salmon fry were placed in Goldstream Creek on April 7. A large number of fry were released last year also. The stocking of these waters with spring salmon fry, following a suggestion made by Alderman Woodward, is expected to improve the fishing in Saanich Arm, as the salmon, when full grown, will return to Goldstream Creek in the spawning season.

MR. STEVENS RAPS STAND OF PREMIER

Says Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King Is Unworthy to Be Prime Minister of This Dominion

RECORD OF GOV'T ELECTION ISSUE

(Canadian Press)

ARNPRIOR, Ont., May 21.—In a trenchant criticism of the Dominion Liberal Government, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Conservative, Vancouver Centre, here today took strong issue with the recent statement of Premier W. L. Mackenzie King on the now famous "five-cent piece" declaration by the Prime Minister.

"Premier King," Mr. Stevens declared, "in a statement issued to the public press as a reply to the speech of Premier G. Howard Ferguson at London, denied that he had made any statement that could be construed as a declaration by himself of denial of assistance to a province because a Conservative Government was in office.

"What I want the people to know," said Mr. Stevens, "is this, that the Prime Minister refused consideration of the question of unemployment, and further, that he said that if any consideration were to be given at all towards unemployment, it would not be given to a province governed by a Conservative administration.

PLAYS WITH LIFE'S BLOOD

"I want to say, as Premier Ferguson so properly said at London on Friday, that any Prime Minister of Canada that plays with the life's blood and well-being of the people of this country on such a low basis as that, is unworthy to be Prime Minister of this great Dominion."

The official record of debates in the House of Commons, he proceeded, supported the statement that "Premier King declared he would not give a five-cent piece to any province presided over by a Conservative Government."

Mr. Stevens produced an official copy of Hansard, and in support of his statement read at length the remarks of the Prime Minister.

RECORD OF GOVT

Touching upon the record of the Government, Mr. Stevens exclaimed "The issue before the people of Canada is not this or that detail of a budget. The issue before the people of the country is whether the administration of Mackenzie King, after nine years of office, has proven itself fit to lead a country such as Canada along the path of prosperity and advancement. You have the right to look over the record, pass in review the last nine years and then ask yourselves the question, "Has this Government run true to form?" This question, he reiterated, was the major one to be considered.

Mr. Stevens spoke before a convention of Conservatives of South Renfrew, at which Dr. M. J. Maloney was unanimously selected as candidate in the Dominion general election.

LOCK-UP AT CUMBERLAND TO BE IMPROVED

No award was made pending looking into the tenders by the officials of the department.

"ASCO" FIRST AID FOR COMMON ILLS

The Improved Tablet Gives Immediate and Effective Relief

"ASCO" is the name of an effective combination of ingredients scientifically compounded so that it will relieve pain, stop headache and break up a cold without any ill after-effects. It is an improved formula so as to give the maximum relief without fear of depressing the heart or upsetting the stomach. It contains no narcotics, nor quinine, nor harmful drugs. ASCO is not ordinary aspirin, it is improved; it is prescribed by the medical profession for the relief of pain and to reduce fever, for headache and for colds.

ASCO is different from many "headache cures" which, when taken in large quantities, often act as an irritant to the delicate lining of the stomach. It also differs from many "cold cures" that act indirect by purging the liver and bowels. ASCO contains no narcotics, quinine or harmful drugs.

As first aid for fevers and complaints accompanied by feverish conditions, ASCO is a wonder worker; Influenza fever will quickly yield to ASCO.

The medical profession prescribes ASCO in preference to acetysalicylic acid, for the relief of pain and to reduce fever. The hospitals and clinics use ASCO, while it is almost indispensable for the medicine case of the trained nurse.

Thousands of women who are subject to terrific headaches and pains have found quick and thorough relief in ASCO. It is the greatest help for women ever known. It always helps, never harms.

ASCO is not new; it has been in use and prescribed by the medical profession the world over for over fifteen years; it was used extensively during the world war, but it has been only recently perfected by scientists to give maximum relief and to act as a gentle and natural tonic. Sold by all drug stores, grocery stores, etc., Macdonald's Consolidated local jobber, 10c per packet; four packets 35c (Advt.)

TAKA (of the C.P.S. mill), Indian club swinger, will present his interesting programme of feats of strength and club swinging on Yates Street at Quadra Street, at 9:30 o'clock on Saturday morning in conjunction with the Maytime Celebration. His strength is portrayed by the lifting of an iron dumbell weighing 103 pounds over his head, and also balancing a steel bar weighing eighty pounds.

FEAR SAFETY OF SIX MEN ON TUG

Portland Craft Vigilant Missing Since Columbia Storm on Monday

ASTORIA, Ore., May 21. — The Portland tug Vigilant, with six men aboard and towing an empty barge to Valsetz, Ore., in the Alsea Bay region, was reported lost today after the craft left the mouth of the Columbia River late on Monday in the face of one of the worst "blows" experienced in this section of the coast.

Mariners here were emphatic in their belief that the tug could not have withstood the terrific gale, which battered the coastline from Astoria southward during Monday night and through Tuesday.

NEWPORT, Ore., May 21. — Coastguardsmen reported today they had not been apprised of the supposition that the Portland tug Vigilant, with six men aboard, had been lost during the heavy storm which swept the Pacific Coast from Astoria southward, Monday night and Tuesday. They said Valsetz was up the Siletz River and that many places would afford the tug shelter.

Charge Withdrawn

A charge against W. J. Morrow of removing lumber without authority from the owner was withdrawn in the Provincial Police Court yesterday. Inquiry had shown that he had merely taken it from one pile instead of from another, it was stated on behalf of the prosecution. Mr. N. W. Whittaker appeared for the accused.

DENIAL GIVEN OF RESTAURANT LIQUOR SALES

"This is the first I have heard of such a matter," said Premier Tolmie when asked for a statement with respect to the report from Vancouver that restaurants had been given promise of permits for table sale of wine and beer, and that some of these places were now being enlarged and altered in readiness.

"There is absolutely nothing in the story," added the Premier.

Pays With Life For His Ignorance

CHICAGO, Ill., May 21.—Michael Michaels, whose home is thought to be in Toronto, did not know the South Side Inn, where he worked as chef, was being robbed last night. He paid with his life for his ignorance.

While two gunmen were lining up six customers and the proprietor, Anthonly Biiassas, before the bar, the chef entered the room. One of the robbers ordered Michaels to join the victims. Instead, he turned to flee. A sawed-off shotgun killed him instantly. The gunmen fled without loot. When police arrived the customers had left the place.

Among Michaels' effects were letters and papers indicating he had served with the Canadian forces during the Great War, and that his home apparently was in Toronto.

MAY BAN BOOK

TORONTO, May 21.—The following special dispatch from Ottawa is published by The Toronto Mail and Empire: "Banning the book, 'Generals Died in Bed,' by Charles Vale Harris, which is alleged to libel Canadians who fought in France, was the subject of a question in the House of Commons by Mr. T. L. Church, Toronto Conservative.

"As a result of Mr. Church's question, Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue, promised that inquiries would be made concerning the book.

"The Northwest Toronto member stated that he had had numerous communications from Toronto veterans' organizations asking if any action was to be taken on the book.

'This book,' Mr. Church declared, 'contains many libelous statements with reference to the Canadian troops, and I would like to know if the minister proposes to prohibit its publication and sale in Canada.'

"Mr. Euler acknowledged that the matter had not been previously brought to his attention. 'I have not read the book,' he said, 'but I will make inquiries'."

"Every time I kiss you it makes me a better man."

"Well, you don't have to try to get to heaven in one night."

The doctor in the village had two children who were acknowledged by the inhabitants as being the prettiest little girls in the district. While the two children were out walking one day they happened to pass two boys; one lived in the village and the other was a visitor.

"I say," said the friend to the village boy, "who are those little girls?"

"They are the doctor's children," replied the boy. "He also keeps the best for himself."

Reggie Hayward and Nellie Rogers Are Willows Champions

Both Set Fast Pace in Winning School Track and Field Honors at Cranmore Road Grounds —Principal Hoadley Presents Awards

Reggie Hayward, son of Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., and Nellie Rogers, will reign supreme in track and field circles at the Willows School for the year 1930, as a result of the institution's annual sports day held yesterday afternoon at the Cranmore Road grounds. Both competitors showed superior form in the various events and their victories are well deserved in each case.

The final check up on points will be made this morning by school officials, but owing to the fact that Hayward and Rogers captured the majority of the boys' and girls' events yesterday, their championships were awarded by the school officials.

Hayward captured the 100, 200, 440-yard events, while Nellie Rogers won the high jump, 100 and 220-yard dashes. In the high jump, Miss Rogers cleared the bar at four feet eleven inches, just a few inches short of the world's record at present held by Ethel Catherwood, of Toronto. Miss Catherwood's record is only a trifle over five feet.

In winning the 220-yard dash, Hayward set a dizzy pace, and, although he was not clocked, officials state that he set a new public schools record. In the other major events, Hayward ran off with the honors without even being pressed.

Following the events, Principal W. E. Hoadley presented the prizes to the winners. Great credit for the splendid showing of the athletes is due to Mr. Thomas Horne, who trained the competitors for weeks at the Willows Oval.

SECESSION IS AGAIN TO FORE

CAPETOWN, South Africa, May 21.—The secession issue, dismissed by many as dead and buried, is again to the fore in South Africa's politics. It proved a lively corpse yesterday in the House of Assembly, where the subject of the Union's right to secede from the British Commonwealth of Nations was hotly debated.

The question arose when Premier Hertzog asked the House to approve the recommendations of the London Conference of 1929 on Dominions legislation and merchant shipping.

"Spike" Branch, a longshoreman, lost an ear in an accident at the Ogden Point docks, yesterday, where he was working on the freighter Rio Claro. The unfortunate incident occurred when Branch was hurled into the water and came in contact with lumber. He was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital in the C. & C. ambulance.

MRS. FERRABEE SPEAKS HERE

PRESIDENT OF WOMAN'S AUXILIARY TO M.S.C.C. VISITS VICTORIA

Explains Opportunity for Missionary Work in New Country

St. John's Schoolroom presented a delightfully gay appearance on Tuesday evening to greet the Dominion president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the M.S.C.C., Mrs. Gilbert Ferrabee.

The stage was banked with beautiful flowers, including magnificent dogwood, upon which Mrs. Ferrabee specially remarked. The committee of St. John's W.A., under its president, Mrs. Kirk, had decorated the room and made lavish preparation for the refreshments, which were enjoyed by a large gathering of W.A. members and visitors.

Mrs. Ferrabee was cordially welcomed by Rev. Canon Chadwick, who acted as chairman of the proceedings, and who expressed his personal pleasure at having the opportunity of hearing an address from so noted a speaker. Mrs. Ferrabee gracefully acknowledged the hearty reception which she was accorded, and expressed her pleasure at being able to meet members of Columbia W.A. again.

MISSIONARY WORK

Taking as the groundwork of her address the message of the risen Christ to the church in Philadelphia, "I have set before thee an open door," Mrs. Ferrabee showed the many doors of opportunity which are open to the church, and made a survey of the missionary work of the Canadian church, both in Canada and in Japan, China and India. The three great forces used by the Woman's Auxiliary are spiritual, educational and financial, which result in taking the gospel to the heathen, training the young, and in financing medical and industrial missions, both in Canada and overseas. Work in Canada includes missions to Jews, Indians, Eskimos and Orientals, as well as among the white settlers on the Prairies and elsewhere. Mrs. Ferrabee urged close co-operation among W.A. members.

Mrs. Dickson, diocesan president of Columbia W.A., expressed, on behalf of the meeting, the deep appreciation felt by all of Mrs. Ferrabee's inspiring and instructive address, as well as the joy of having the opportunity of meeting her again, which the meeting heartily endorsed.

Following the benediction, announced by Canon Chadwick, an informal social hour was spent, many members being introduced to Mrs. Ferrabee, who was accompanied by Mrs. Brimer, Dominion Doreas secretary, whose guest she has been during her short stay in the city.

Clubs and Societies

Dominion President Visits

Mrs. Ferrabee, president of the Dominion Board of the W.A., was a passenger on the Princess Mary. On the arrival of the boat at Alert Bay Mrs. Ferrabee was welcomed by the president of the local branch of the W.A., Miss Dibben and members of the seniors and Indian branches, and also some of the girls and junior branches. Little Eliza Salmon, a pupil of the Indian Residential School, presented a buttonhole of Lilies of the Valley on behalf of the juniors. Norah Alfred prettily handed Mrs. Ferrabee a bouquet of flowers, and Miss Mary Warren gave her a photograph of the Indian branch. Unfortunately time did not permit Mrs. Ferrabee to leave the wharf. Before the Princess Mary left Miss Agnes King on behalf of the Girls' W.A. presented Miss Nixon with a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Nixon has for many years been associated with this branch, and as she was leaving for a trip to the Old Country, it was a tribute to her from the girls.

The New Evening Wrap Is Very Short

SOMETIMES brevity is the soul of smartness. Perhaps the mind goes to the increased length of skirts and to long gloves, but consider the evening wrap—the wrap of this Spring and Summer—and learn the other side of the story. Evening wraps this season have been shorn of the inches that made them three-quarters length or full-length in the Winter. Now, they may reach a point just between the waist and the hips. Sleeves, too, have been cut away in the cause of chic, and their new short length emphasizes the importance of gloves. Velvet and velveteen in every vivid color have lent themselves to making the brevity as gay as possible. Black is a smart color for the new evening gown, which is often in chiffon and lace. (1) An air of stately grandeur characterizes this evening frock of black silk crepe combined with black silk Spanish lace which is permitted to trail softly at each side. (2) A chic little velveteen wrap with a fur collar, which just covers the hips. Its sleeves are of seven-eighths length. Loose wing drapery falling from the arm holes and shoulders in the back gives it a final distinctive flair. (3) A lovely gown of black silk lace sponsoring the deep U decolletage. Notice the regal fanwise spread of the severely pointed train. (Sketch is by Vogue).

Charming Fashions of 1930 Shown by Artists on West End Stage—Beautiful Evening Frocks Worn

All last season's clothes are now quite obsolete, and whether one likes them or not the long skirts and the trimmed fashions of 1930 are here, says an article in The Times (London). If they are sometimes worn with difficulty in private life, they are worn with grace and distinction on the stage, where practice has made deportment in them perfect.

From the revival of "The Calendar" at the Lyceum it is possible to gather what Ascot will look like. Here Miss Margaret Bannerman has an astounding white romaine two-piece; the coat with two tiers merging into the three-tiered skirt gives the appearance of a five-tiered dress. It is trimmed with black fox which makes a high collar. The skirt reaches the ground all round. Others wear lime green and yellow lace dresses with trailing ends which would be a trial in the paddock. Miss Bannerman has also a lace evening dress in three shades of blue, with long sleeves; it is a good example of the long evening dress.

"THE MULBERRY BUSH"

In "The Mulberry Bush" Miss Carson has an evening gown in shaded rose net strewn with large silk spots; it is tight to the waist and made with long sleeves tight to the elbow with flowing ends; the skirt is very simple and flows out nearly a yard on the ground at the back. In the last act she has a pretty cinnamon-brown satin dress made with a belt, sets of godet pleats at the side and touches of orange and ivory are on the collar. Miss Mercia Swinburne wears in the first act an oyster satin evening gown made with a circular skirt and a cabochon ornament on the bodice; her short evening coat of mother-of-pearl paillettes, with a cape collar, is very closely woven. In the last act she has a coat and skirt of green shantung with a coffee-color blouse; the skirt is finished with two slit pockets like a man's. Miss Tetley in the first act wears green with a pleated skirt and long, tight sleeves. Over this is a top coat in a large patterned check tweed in mixtures of grey, green and black trimmed with a silver grey fox; her hat and bag are of tweed. In the last act she has a cherry silk frock with short sleeves and a pleated skirt and a necklace of flat brown and white wood.

"DEBONNAIR"

In "Debonnair," the leading lady who is always on the move, is seen for the most part in a day frock of blue and white printed crepe de Chine with a pleated skirt which dips slightly back and front; with this she has a long coat of powder-blue cloth and squirrel collar and cuffs. Miss Kate Cutler has two evening dresses, one of which, of flesh-colored chiffon, is worn with a short velvet cloak and fur-trimmed cape collar. Miss Diana Wilson's lacquer-red georgette evening dress is on long, graceful lines. Miss May Hallett's sheath-like evening dress of Chinese blue and silver brocade is cut with a low neck, and the glove-like sleeves end in points over the hands and on the shoulders. Miss Nancy Pawley's broken white chiffon frock reaches evenly to the ground; the cape is arranged on one side only. A very long black georgette evening gown is worn by Miss Doris Clemence, and with it is a short black velvet coat embroidered in crystal and trimmed with grey fur.

DAMASK ROSE

In the "Damask Rose" there are gorgeous period dresses. The colors are extraordinarily mellow. Miss Wilma Berkeley in the last act wears a beautiful rose-pink dress of heavy taffetas; it is hand-embroidered and has a jeweled panel on the skirt and jeweling on the bodice. Miss Aimee Augarde's magnificent lemon and white brocade gown has a white duchess satin panel and trimmings of old English edelweiss lace. Every dress is made with minute attention to accuracy.

"My mother was visiting in Detroit a year ago and she was in very poor health. My sister-in-law got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped her more than anything she had taken. She advised me to take it too and I did. My back used to ache and I suffered so with pain at times that I could not work. I feel like a new woman and can do my housekeeping and work in the store. I will answer letters."—Mrs. T. V. Hill.

The Compound has certainly done me good and can help others."—Mrs. Willie Lafleur.

Lace Adds Softness to New Gowns

WITH the further development of feminity in the mode, it is not surprising that the fragile beauty of lace is of importance. Chanel has accented black lace in a series of excellent models, some with pert little pellums, and thread lace is strongly favored by several other houses. Sometimes, lace forms the whole dress and again, it is combined with chiffon or tulle. Little lace shawls and jackets are worn over plain chiffon dresses. On the left is a Vogue sketch of smart lace costumes, showing a formal gown with a short and gracious train, the circular frill on the bodice ending in romantic flared wings in the back. The less formal dinner dress is featured by ruffles and lace inserts, the sheerness of chiffon and a demure ankle length. The lace bolero has kimona sleeves, finished with double ruffles. On the right, a charming lace frock is covered by a turquoise blue chiffon velvet wrap of the new short type.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

Sophistication is the order of the day. The flapper has retired to the background with the knee-length frock. And particularly striking in elegance and femininity is the new evening mode.

Charming evening gowns for wear at the formal Summer festivity reveal a great variety of materials to choose from and a multitude of colors.

White, smart the year round for evening wear, is very much stressed for the Summer season. And we show today an exquisite gown of white crepe roma. The lines of this model, reminiscent of the Greek influence, are long and flowing. The double skirt falls gracefully in folds from a draped yoke. Jeweled shoulder straps hold the bodice in slight fullness.

GRAIN ELEVATOR AT VANCOUVER IS TO BE ENLARGED

OTTAWA, May 21.—Government approval has been given the plans for an extension of No. 1 grain elevator at Vancouver, to cost $500,000, Hon. H. H. Stevens (Conservative, Vancouver Centre) was informed today, in the House of Comomns, by Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Minister of Marine and Fisheries. This will provide additional storage capacity for 2,000,000 bushels.

The Vancouver Harbor Commission has been authorized to have plans prepared for a cold storage plant and fish wharf, but neither the plans nor the specifications have been submitted to the department for approval.

NEW SHIP CANAL CEREMONY IS SET

Welland Waterway Is Now Open at Lake Ontario and Lake Erie Ends

OTTAWA, May 21.—Official opening of the new Welland Ship Canal will take place on September 1, it was announced at the Department of Railways and Canals today. At present the canal is in operation at both the Lake Erie and Lake Ontario ends.

"We have given the matter most careful consideration," said Mr. V. I. Smart, deputy minister of railways, "and would be glad if possible to associate the opening of this important undertaking with the anniversary of Confederation, and have made every possible effort to complete it by July 1. We are, however, not satisfied that to undertake the operation of the canal as a whole at that date would be consistent with safe operation of this tremendous new structure, on which $120,000,000 has been expended. It is with a view to making certain on that score that we have decided to proceed more deliberately and arrange the opening for September 1.

"This course is approved by the Minister of Railways and Canals, Hon. T. A. Crerar, who recently visited the canal. It happens that September 1 falls on a Monday, and is also Labor Day. There will thus be a certain appropriateness in the new date, in view of the contribution that labor has made towards the provision of the canal works."

Boardinghouse Mistress—Is this beef too rare for you, Mr. Simpkins?

Boarder—Well, since you ask me, Mrs. Skinner, I would like it a little oftener.

Linens and Cottons Used in Many Ways

PLAIN and printed linens, printed cotton crepes and voiles, cotton or silk pique, toile de soie, washable silk crepes, shantungs, foulards, printed and faconne shirting and sheer patterned woolens—these are the stuffs the Summer mode is made of. While, alone or with a vivid accent of red, green or blue, the pastel pinks, blues, greens, yellows and apricots—these are the delightful colors. Pliable hats of pique or linen and wider hats of starched linen. Panama or rough straw—shoes of white suede or antelope trimmed with brown, black and blue—these are the complements of the Summer mode. The Vogue sketches on the left show a jacket suit of chalk-white shantung with effective touches of orange-red dotted chiffon as a tie and as cuffs. The dress is sleeveless, with the hip-line banded and buttoned. The jacket is a bolero model with the chic new three-quarters length sleeves. Reboux is responsible for the wide-brimmed hat of brown bangkok. Overlapping bands of grosgrain ribbon in red, pale blue and brown give a Roman striped effect—a color note that is excellent in the present hat world. The Oxford shares honors with the pump in the shoe mode, and both have refreshing variations from the models of last season. The pump is finished with banding of brown and the Oxford with a double toecap and heel of blue kid. On the right is a smart 1930 tennis costume and printed shantung in white, red and brown tones.—Sketches by Vogue.

ATTRACTIVE TEA

Woman's Auxiliary of Nanaimo Hospital Organizes Entertainment

NANAIMO, May 21.—At the home of Mrs. Fred Busby, Franklyn Street, yesterday afternoon, the Woman's Auxiliary to Nanaimo Hospital was the hostess at a tea. Despite the inclement weather there was a good turnout, the sum of $62.30 being realized. Fine entertainment, a grand drawing, dainty refreshments, candy and home cooking stalls, greatly enhanced the general funds.

The pretty reception rooms were bright with cut flowers; an artistic combination of pale pink roses, blue iris and yellow tulips enhanced the pretty table appointments and the general setting. Mrs. J. O. Nicholls, with Mrs. Busby, received the many guests.

Pouring tea in turn were Mrs. J. Nicholls, Mrs. E. Mitchell, Mrs. G. Bell Brown, Mrs. Peter Weigle; home cooking, Mrs. Thomas Bulman, Mrs. Mary J. Carnelly, Miss Louise Caldwell; candy stall, Mrs. Peter Weigle, Miss Ena Brown and Mrs. J. Dixon; drawings, Mrs. George Johnson, and Mrs. Kneen. Mrs. A. M. Turner made an efficient cashier.

Miss Hazel Martin, Mrs. Frank Reynolds, with Mrs. Fred Newman, playing delightful accompaniments, furnished an interesting programme. Miss Johnson gave recitations in finished style.

The committees responsible for the successful venture were: Mrs. W. Rumming, general convener, assisted by Mrs. Allan Hall, Mrs. A. C. Van Houten, Mrs. Earl Hall, Mrs. Boothroyd and Mrs. Cyril Baker.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Busby before dispersing.

Every man has two great ambitions. First, to own his home. Second, to own a car to get away from his home.

DANGER LURKS in Half-Clean Teeth!

Greatly magnified picture of space between teeth. Note how ordinary, sluggish toothpaste (having high "surface-tension") fails to penetrate deep down where the causes of decay may lurk.

This diagram shows how Colgate's active foam (having low "surface-tension") penetrates deep down into the space between teeth, cleansing it completely where the toothbrush cannot reach.

Decay starts when tiny crevices are left uncleaned... mere surface brushing is not sufficient protection.

Colgate's penetrating foam dislodges decaying particles from hard-to-clean places... cleans teeth completely. Don't risk the dangers of half-clean teeth. Play safe. Of course you want white, lovely teeth—Colgate's will polish them perfectly... but Colgate's does more. Its famous foam floods out the decaying particles hidden in tiny spaces between teeth and gives an antiseptic bath where ordinary dentifrices can't reach. Why not get these two advantages—each so vital? Buy a tube of Colgate's today—protect your teeth.

Colgate's is most economical—the 25c tube of Colgate's contains more toothpaste than any other nationally advertised brand priced at a quarter.

NOTED STARS ARE SEEN IN PARADE

Featured Players Display Talents In Dominion Offering for Balance of Week

More than thirty-five of Hollywood's best-known stars and featured players will entertain at the Dominion Theatre today in one of the gayest entertainment revels ever brought out of Hollywood, when "Paramount on Parade" opens for a three-day run.

Stars who have enamoured the public imagination engage in a joyous rivalry of acting, singing, dancing, comedy and love-making in this festival of the stars. Featured players who have drawn crowds to see them when they appeared alone are here joined together in one big melange of sprightly happiness. "Paramount on Parade" is an intimate medley of mirth and music, the new-type screen frolic originated by Paramount.

The best-known players on the talking screen appear individually and in groups. Maurice Chevalier, for instance, sings two new song hits and appears in two Chevalier interludes. One of them was directed by Ernst Lubitsch, who made "The Love Parade." Clara Bow is heard singing her new love ballad, "True to the Navy," and Nancy Carroll sings, dances and makes merry to the music of Abe Lyman's famous band, in an interlude called "Dance Mad."

CAPITOL STARS CATTLE RANGING

"Under a Texas Moon" is Opportunity for Stirring Outdoor Comedy

"Under a Texas Moon," Warner Bros.' first 100 per cent. talking, singing, out-door picture in technicolor, which opens today at the Capitol Theatre, for a three-day run, is an adaptation of Stewart Edward White's "The Two-Gun Man."

It recounts the gay adventures of another Don Juan, an ingratiating liar, who, with two guitar-strumming companions, makes amorous pilgrimages through the cattle country, capturing thieves and merely escaping capture—only to ride jauntily on, hunting new adventure.

The scenes of "Under a Texas Moon" are exquisite, all being taken in the colors of nature. The capable cast is headed by the inimitable Frank May as Don Carlos. Many of the famous beauties of the screen are included, among them Armida, Raquel Torres, Myrna Loy, Mona Maris, Betty Boyd and Edythe Kramera. Western bad men are played by Noah Beery, Tully Marshall, Georgie Stone, George Cooper, Fred Kohler, Jack Curtis, Sam Appel, Tom Dix, Jerry Barrett, Francisco Maran, Charles Sellon and Bruce Covington. Michael Curtiz directed.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE "The future picture," surmises James Cruze, the director of "The Great Gabbo," now at the Playhouse Theatre, will be a colored television affair, with third dimension and dialogue. When the dawn of this futuristic means of projecting takes place, there will possibly be a licenced plan, perhaps in government control, whereby the broadcasting company will receive revenue."

Dockside Cafe In Studio Is True to Detail

The film producer today gets "atmosphere" in a scene in a remarkably effective way. This was particularly impressed on one at the Shepherd's Bush studio during the filming of "You Know What Sailors Are," now showing at the Columbia Theatre, a Gaumont-British film based on W. E. Townend's novel, "A Light for His Pipe."

The setting was a Mediterranean seaport cafe reproduced with amazing fidelity down to the smallest detail, and an exact counterpart of any such establishment one may find around the Marseilles docks. The habitues of the place were equally true to life, and this reality of representation, coupled with Elvey's instinct for a "situation," created an atmosphere extremely effective and convincing.

HUMAN DRAMA IN DESERT TOLD

Background of "Desert Heroes" Is Awe-Inspiring, Supported With Superb Acting

"Desert Heroes," Universal's remarkable all-talking drama of human nature, which comes to the Coliseum Theatre today, is a picture of a high and distinguished order.

It runs the gamut of human emotions and actions. It has romance, adventure, pathos and humor. It achieves suspense of a nature that has never been surpassed in motion pictures.

Its action is shown against a canvass at once weird and awe-inspiring—the majestic, illimitable desolation of the great Mojave Desert. Against this tremendous background is played out a human drama whose compelling interest is never allowed to flag.

"Desert Heroes" is marked by superb acting. Charles Bickford, Raymond Hatton and Fred Kohler give characterizations that are notable contributions to the art of the screen. Splendid performances also are given by Fritzi Ridgeway, Marie Alba, Joe de la Cruz, Buck Connors and Walter James.

Group Adopts Amendment to Elections Act

OTTAWA, May 21.—Provision for facilitating the holding of by-elections within six months following a general election is made in an amendment to the Dominion Elections Act adopted in the Dominion elections committee of the House of Commons today. The amendment provides for the use of the same voters' lists prepared for the general election at any by-election held within six months.

By-elections of Cabinet ministers, in the event of a change of Government, and by-elections brought about for any other reason, would be affected.

Assistance to blind men in casting their votes will be provided for in the committee's recommendations. A suggestion that the same proposed aid be extended to illiterates was rejected as open to abuse.

The Story Behind the Play

By J. J. GELLER

"SAPPHO"

Alphonse Daudet is best remembered in the land of his birth as the author of a number of psychological novels of a high order. All of his books are singularly free of any moral or lesson. The sole exception is "Sappho," which he wrote during 1883, and it preached that the wages of sin is death. In the midst of Parisian society Daudet, who was a man of lofty ideals and noble principles, could not help nothing the lives and loves of the artists surrounding him, especially the complex character of the eternal feminine in her full development. If he could portray women of cordial allurement and describe their weaknesses and virtues, his theme might serve of some purpose to society as well as to his two young sons when they attained their majority.

Daudet set about to demonstrate his case by writing of an artist's model, Fanny Legrand, who, after a series of affairs with others, discovers the one true love. The story ends with the final abandonment of her lover at the entreaties of his family—an act of self-renunciation. The novelist called his story "Sappho," after the famous Greek poetess and charmer. Fanny Legrand earned this cognomen in Daudet's tale when she was induced to pose for a sculptor who modeled from her likeness a statue of a Greek woman which all Paris recognized as Sappho.

In time the story was completed and, following his usual custom, Daudet arranged for its serial publication in the daily "Echo de Paris," with the opening dedication, "For my sons, when they reach the age of twenty." With its last installment it was published in book form, and from all sections of Paris there came suggestions that "Sappho" should be dramatized. In collaboration with a French playwright, Adolphe Belot, Daudet adapted his popular story for the stage. It remained for the novelist to paint the human emotions of the characters while Belot supplied the background for the sensational scenes.

As a drama, "Sappho" was given at the Gymnaze, in Paris, on December 18, 1885, and proved a keen disappointment to all who witnessed it. The reason, no doubt, lay in the fact that the play was badly cast and the actress selected to interpret the role of Fanny Legrand was unequal to the occasion. It required acting talent of a high order to play the irresistible, pitiful woman. When this fault was pointed out to the theatre management it withdrew the play immediately and engaged a new company with the famous Gabrielle Rejane in the featured role, and at once the play became a Continental sensation.

A few years later when Mme. Rejane toured America in a repertoire of plays in her own language, she included "Sappho." Acting in French, she presented it to the New Yorkers for three days, but it failed to arouse the comment that it had occasioned in Paris, and was promptly forgotten until the English actress, Olga Nethersole, visited that country in the interests of the drama. It was her ambition to become famous as the supreme exponent of those unconventional stage women like Camille and Carmen. She now sought to add Fanny Legrand to her lists of conquests.

An examination of Daudet's "Sappho" in dramatic form, which had suited Rejane and Sarah Bernhardt, was too mild for Olga Nethersole, and she accordingly engaged Clyde Fitch to make a different, but more vigorous adaptation. Fitch discarded many sequences in the French play and substituted a number of his own which included two scenes that later caused the police to bar "Sappho" from the stage. He made a pathological study of the main character. Daudet's original creation was tame in comparison to Fitch's.

When the play finally opened in Wallack's Theatre on February 16, 1900, it caused all tongues to wag. Complaints poured into the city officials and the theatre was forced to shut down. Miss Nethersole was indicted, but on trial she was quickly acquitted and resumed her "Sappho" without any further molestation. The play became one of the most popular vehicles for stock companies and the popular-priced theatrical circuits.

CHAPTER XXIII

The bell in the cupola of Dorf Jaime's little adobe church was calling its last summons to the faithful when Roberta and her host left the house on foot. The streets of the pueblo were deserted, save for some semi-naked babies and an unconscionable number of cur dogs, as they passed through.

As Don Jaime's firm step sounded in the tiled entrance, the congregation which had been seated on benches, rose en masse—and since the padre had not as yet appeared on the altar, Roberta realized that here was a gesture of profound respect to the lord of the rancho.

Don Jaime led her down the main aisle and crossed with her over to the organ which stood against the wall. The choir sat on benches in the rear of the organ and an upholstered chair stood beside the organ seat.

"For company," Don Jaime murmured, and indicated that Roberta should occupy it. Then he sat in at the organ, pulled out the stops and tried the pedals. Finding some difficulty he stood erect and peered back of the organ. And now Roberta realized why her host kept a short buggy whip on top of the instrument, for he seized it and administered a sharp tap to something hidden from her gaze.

"Si, Don Jaime, Si," a voice cried anxiously.

"The trouble with my people," Don Jaime whispered, "is that if permitted to lean against anything they fall asleep. My organ-pumper is no exception."

The padre, in his vestments, entered from the sacristy, and as he advanced to the altar Don Jaime's little organ crashed into a sonorous prelude; then his brown choir, taking the cue from a vigorous nod of the master's raven head, sang:

"Come, Holy Ghost, Creator blest,
And in our hearts take up thy rest."

The girl watched Don Jaime, who knew not one note from another but who played amazingly well by ear because God had created him a troubadour. His dark face was alight with the delight he gleaned from his simple task; for all his huge body, there was in his attitude and in the lustre of his eyes something that proclaimed to her again the odd, little-boy quality in him, touching her as she had never been touched before.

She gazed about her. Dusky fat women, in bright print calico dresses and gay shawls, men in overalls and clean gingham shirts, sans neckties, their sombreros on the floor beside them; little barefoot boys and girls, their black eyes bent upon Roberta with frank, primitive curiosity, knelt on the hard red tiles.

His people! Never before had she met a man who claimed as his people those with whom he could not claim a blood-relationship. Never before had she met a man whose clannish instincts, whose reverence for the traditions of his ancestors, were so strong as in Don Jaime. A part of the man dwelt in the remote past, content with the riches of simplicity and health, contemptuous of money for money's sake, scornful of its power—a sort of spiritual worldling chained to his environment by the obligations it thrust upon him, yet not wishful to avoid or decrease them—rather relishing them, in fact.

"Strange, strange man," the girl reflected. "There he sits with a look of exultation on his face, and yet I know he has not the most remote interest in the ultimate disposal of his immortal soul. He killed my Uncle Tom and is too honest to think of pretending to me that he regrets it. This morning he said he loved me—yet he has not made love to me nor will he. I wonder if that was just some of his Irish blarney or his Castilian instinct for conveying compliments for their own sake. He's a strange mixture yet there is nothing complex about him. He thinks straight, talks straight and acts straight. He couldn't dissemble if he wanted to. Oh, dear, I'm afraid I wish I'd never met him. He's one of those terrible men one must take seriously."

The service proceeded. Roberta dreamed on . . . Don Jaime's low voice reached her. "Now, then, Bobby, do your stuff."

She sang as she had never sung before. "See their eyes," Don Jaime whispered as she sat down. "The poor devils. They loved it. Handel's 'Where'er You Walk' isn't sung in our church, but who here knows the difference, and who cares? An encore, Bobby."

She sang it. Then she sat through a sermon in Spanish, at the conclusion of which the padre, addressing Don Jaime, begged him to convey his thanks and that of his probrecitos to the American senorita. Don Jaime translated the passage, and a few minutes later she saw him stooping over the lap of a girl and lifting therefrom an infant. He carried it over to Roberta. "My soon-to-be godson," he explained. "Little brown rascal. He's as fat as a woodchuck, and when he grows up he will be unenergetic, if not downright lazy. Well, to the baptismal fount with him. Here comes the padre."

She watched him holding the stolid infant while the sacrament of baptism was being administered; she marked the pride and pleasure in the young mother's face at this signal honor conferred upon her and hers, when, the ceremony over, Don Jaime kissed the infant and handed the mother the customary largess. To the godmother, too, he made a gift of money; then, with a paternal pat on the shoulders of all concerned, including the padre, he rejoined Roberta and together they walked back through the pueblo to the hacienda. En route women curtsied to them, men removed their hats and bowed, soft voices murmured, "Buenos dias, Don Jaime," cur dogs sniffed his heels and grimy little hands were thrust into his.

At the head of the single street Don Jaime looked back. "A contented people," he declared. Chili peppers drying on every roof and ample corn for the tortillas; a tiny garden for onions and lettuce and beans, labor exchanged for bright calico and overalls and gingham at cost at the ranch commissary; no debts, no rents, no lawsuits, freedom from a puritanical code of morals. Nothing to annoy them save a little labor for the man who exploits them and pays them starvation wages and who, when they are naughty, whips them. Sometimes I could wish I, too, were a peon. Boll-weevil and the price of beef bothers them not, nor taxes nor notes at the bank."

"Nor sheep," Roberta supplemented "Speaking of which," he continued, "we will ride out and visit the woolies after luncheon, if you care for a ride. We've kept holy the Sabbath forenoon, so let us enjoy the Sabbath afternoon."

Crooked Bill, meanwhile, was wondering why his niece was such a poor correspondent, when Harms, the butler, entered with the mail. Two envelopes, one slim and the other fat, bore the return address of the Rancho Valle Verde, so Crooked Bill opened the slim one and read:

"My dear Mr. Latham:

"I wired for your permission to pay my court to your lovely niece, Miss Roberta Antrim. In granting the desired permission, for which I am deeply grateful, you saw fit to give me some wholly unnecessary and rather silly advice on how to be successful in love.

"My father, in his callow youth, may have been steeped in the Castilian mode of courtship. He had more Spanish blood in his veins than his son. But I am no such bungling operator in the arena of courtship. I'll have you know that I'm a real live nephew of your own Uncle Sam, because I judge from your telegram that you think I'm as sentimental and romantic as a Neapolitan street singer.

"My Dear Mr. Latham, you know nothing of your charming niece's disposition. The finest way in the world for me to kill my feeble prospects would be for me to wangle a guitar under her window and sing 'Sobre las Olas.' And anyhow, what's your interest in me that causes you to be so free with your foolish advice? I suspect you would like me to get in Dutch.

"I think she likes me, but she doesn't know whether I'm crazy about her or not, even when I swear I am. I figure that the best way to get her winging is to keep her guessing, but—quien sabe! If you have any other suggestions for helping along the game of your old friend Patricio Jesus Higuenes' son, let them fly.

"Sincerely yours,
"J. M. Higuenes."

Crooked Bill read and re-read this remarkable document and with a huge sigh laid it aside. "I've overplayed my hand," he murmured, and took up Roberta's letter, which ran as follows:

"Dear Uncle Bill:

"I am ashamed of myself for having neglected you so, but the fact is I have been having such a wonderful time at Don Jaime's ranch (I call him Jimmy) that I haven't had time to write.

"Uncle Bill, he's marvelous. Everybody thinks so and says so—consequently it must be true. His lawyer, Don Prudencio Alviso, whom we visited yesterday, says God only made one Jaime Miguel Higuenes and the mould was destroyed. He is very bold, he sings and plays divinely, he is a sort of feudal baron and he works hard all day with his men. He hasn't laid off a day since I came, but he lets me ride around with him. He has thousands of acres of cotton, thousands more of alfalfa, thousands more of cattle range, and all the cattle in the world. He still suffers a little from the wounds Uncle Tom inflicted on him but he will not admit this. He's very humorous and one never grows weary of his society. Mignon worships from afar and envies the peon women who kiss his hand after some kindness.

"I haven't thought of Glenn Hackett more than twice since coming here and then only to compare him, to his disadvantage, to the amazing Jimmy. If he'd only make love to me like a reasonable man should think I'd fall for him—man should, I think I'd fall for him—hard.

The above deal is an excellent example of the principle of restricting pre-emptive original suit bids with but seven probable tricks to Major suits only.

In a previous article I stated that pre-emptive original suit bids should be so regulated as to indicate game probability with no more than the average expectancy of support (three tricks) in hand of partner. So regulated, we find that pre-emptive original suit bids of three to show seven probable tricks, massed wholly or principally in the suit so bid, are sound in principle if a Major suit, but unsound if a Minor suit.

As explained many times, the holding of but seven probable tricks with a long Minor suit the trump, calls for a bid of but one only, as with this number of tricks there exists a much better chance for game at No Trumps than with the Minor suit the trump. Whereas, if the long suit be a Major and the combined hands can make game at No Trumps, they can usually also make game with the long suit the trump. In other words, whether the long suit be a Major or a Minor, the same number of tricks are feasible, but with the Minor the trump eleven tricks must be made for games. Such number of tricks is possible only in case partner holds better than the average expectancy of support.

As may be observed by the above deal, South can easily make four odd at Hearts but cannot make five odd. Thus had South's suit been Diamonds or Clubs, he would not have been justified in making a pre-emptive bid wherewith to indicate game probability with such suit the trump, as South must win the remaining tricks.

SALIENT POINTS OF THE BIDDING

Auction: South, with a solid seven card Heart suit and worthless side cards, opens with a pre-emptive bid of three Hearts, concluding the bidding.

Contract: As in Auction, South opens the bidding with three Hearts. West passing, North, with three supporting tricks, carries the bid to four Hearts.

THE PLAY

West opens the King of Clubs. The Dummy going down, South (Declarer) plays the six from Dummy, East the encouraging eight and South the four. West next leads the Ace of Clubs and follows with the three, East winning with the Queen. East now leads the King of Spades, which South wins with the Ace in Dummy and leads the Ace and King of Diamonds, discarding thereon the seven and eight of Spades. This practically concludes the play, as South must win the remaining tricks.

This is a sample of what are known of lawyers' resources:

The defendant in the breach of promise action was a singularly ugly little man.

"Gentlemen of the jury," said his counsel, "you've heard the evidence of the plaintiff, and you've doubtless admired her. Now, do you believe this enchanting, this fascinating, this captivating, this accomplished girl would favor the advances or listen, save with scorn, to the amorous protestations of the wretched and repulsive creature, the deformed and degraded defendant?"

His client tried to interrupt. "Silence, sir!" replied his counsel, in an undertone.

"Gentlemen," he continued, "do you think this girl would ever have permitted an offer of marriage to be made her by this miserable atom of humanity, who would have to stand on a penny to look over twopence?"

The jury thought not.

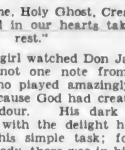

Verdict for defendant.

FOUR EXAMPLES OF MOTORING ECONOMY

TO illustrate the big cash saving you can make by adopting Castrol, we show four examples in which four motor car owners driving different makes of cars and living in widely separated parts of Canada have slashed their oil bills. An ordinary motor oil at 35c a quart is expensive . . . it gives only 500 miles before a change is necessary. Castrol at 50c a quart is Economy! Castrol gives not just 500 miles . . . but 2000 MILES WITHOUT CHANGE. It is a lubricant that talks dollars and cents and makes no bones about it.

EXAMPLE 1.

Showing comparative Annual saving made by Chrysler 70 owner, using Castrol at 50c per quart instead of an ordinary oil at 35c per quart. Crank case capacity—6 quarts.

Mr. J. P. L. of Sherbrooke, Que., driving a Chrysler covers 20,000 miles in a year's time. Castrol gives him 2,000 miles without change. Thus he requires only 10 changes of oil a year. If he used a 500 mile oil he would require 40 changes a year. Here is his cash saving:

40 changes of an ordinary oil @ $2.10 per filling $84
10 changes of Castrol ..... @ 3.00 per filling 30
→ His Saving $54

EXAMPLE 2.

Showing comparative saving made by Studebaker Commander owner, using Castrol at 50c per quart instead of an ordinary oil at 35c per quart. Crank case capacity—6 quarts.

Mr. R. H. M. of Toronto, Ont., drives a Studebaker. Last year he covered 30,000 miles using Castrol. He changed his oil every 2,000 miles. Thus he required only 15 changes. Had he used an ordinary 500 mile oil, he would have paid for 60 changes. He made a real saving as these figures show:

60 changes of an ordinary oil @ $2.10 per filling $126
15 changes of Castrol ..... @ 3.00 per filling 45
→ His Saving ..... $ 81

EXAMPLE 3.

Showing comparative saving made by Chevrolet owner, using Castrol at 50c per quart instead of an ordinary oil at 35c per quart. Crank case capacity—4 quarts.

Miss K. F. B. of Halifax, N.S., drives her Chevrolet Sedan about 14,000 miles a year. Formerly she used a 500 mile oil. Now she uses Castrol and changes every 2,000 miles only. Her saving figures out like this:

28 changes of an ordinary oil @ $1.40 per filling $39.20
7 changes of Castrol ..... @ $2.00 per filling 14.00
→ Her Saving $25.20

EXAMPLE 4.

Showing comparative saving made by Packard owner, using Castrol at 50c per quart instead of an ordinary oil at 35c per quart. Packard crank case capacity—8 quarts.

Mr. G. N. D. of Vancouver, B.C., drives one of his cars, a Packard Eight, about 12,000 miles a year. He uses Castrol and drains and refills his crank case after every 2,000 miles of driving. Thus, he requires only 6 changes of Castrol a year. He would require 24 changes of a 500 mile oil:

24 changes of an ordinary oil @ $2.80 per filling $67.20
6 changes of Castrol ..... @ 4.00 per filling 24.00
→ His Saving $43.20

Showing the minimum amount you will save on lubrication by using "Castrol" at 50c a quart instead of an ordinary oil at 35c a quart, whether you drive annually 10,000 miles, 20,000 miles or 30,000 miles.

How Much Can YOU Save?

If your car is not listed in either chart shown here, get out your pencil . . . and figure out just how much you can save in a year's time by adopting Castrol! You will find that every time you fill your crank case, Castrol saves you from $2 to $4! For the sake of easy figuring, do not consider "make-up". BUT REMEMBER: only half as much Castrol is required for "make-up" as any other oil!

MISSION CIRCLE HOLDS MEETING

GARDEN CITY, May 21.—The Mission Circle of the Garden City United Church held its monthly meeting in the church on Friday evening. After the devotional exercise and business the Temperance secretary gave a reading on alcohol, and the president and vice-president gave readings from "Friendships Trails." It was decided to hold an anniversary tea on June 4. The meeting closed with prayer and immediately followed a social half-hour, when pianoforte solos and recitations were enjoyed.

Mrs. High Flyer had engaged a new chauffeur that morning, a lad evidently from the country. She had given him a fine uniform to be worn only on special occasions.

During the evening she was entertaining several distinguished visitors in the lounge, when the new man stuck his head through the doorway and asked: "Please ma'am, am I to put on my own clothes or yours?"—Edinburgh Evening Dispatch.

Business Women's Clubs to Meet in Nanaimo Soon

NANAIMO, May 21.—In the Foresters' Hall last evening the Nanaimo Women's Professional and Business Club met. Members of the local club are joining with the clubs of Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster at their convention being held at the Malaspina Hotel on May 24. On May 25 the members are journeying to Qualicum, where they are having a joint luncheon, and a round-table conference. The charter is being kept open until the next meeting on Thursday, June 5, which is being held at the home of the president, Miss Blanche MacDonald. The club is planning a dinner to be held towards the end of June.

ROYSTON MAKES PRESENTATIONS

Mr. and Mrs. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Wing Honored on Eve of Departure

ROYSTON, May 21.—Under the auspices of the school trustees a whist drive and dance was held at the schoolroom on Tuesday in honor of Mr. Williams, school principal, and Mrs. Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wing of the Auto Camp, who are leaving for Rhodesia. Winners of the prizes at whist were: Ladies, first, Mrs. Dunn; second, Miss Margaret Dunn; traveling prize, Mrs. Robertson; gentlemen, first, Mr. J. Idiens; second, Mr. D. Idiens; traveling prize, Mr. Bert Carey.

After supper, provided by the ladies, at which some eighty sat down, Mr. Sillence, in a witty speech, presented to Mr. and Mrs. Wing a traveling robe, which he hoped, in traveling to King Solomon's mines, would be a reminder of the kind thoughts of the community. Mr. Wing replied thanking the community, and eulogizing Vancouver Island.

Mr. E. J. Edwards, chairman of the School Board, next presented Mr. Williams with a purse of gold in token of the high esteem in which he was held, and wishing him long well-earned enjoyment of his pension. Mr. Williams, in thanking the donors, said that, although making Victoria their home in future, they would always cherish the happy days spent at Royston. Mr. Williams explained his ideal of the schoolmaster's work, was not so much academic distinction as to make the children into good citizens. The school children then presented Mrs. Williams with a bouquet, and Mr. Williams was asked to present bouquets to Mrs. Wing and Mrs. Christie, the latter being the indefatigable secretary of the School Board.

W.A. HOLDS SILVER TEA AT ALERT BAY

ALERT BAY, May 17 (By Mail).—Under the auspices of the Alert Bay branch of the W.A., a silver tea was given on Friday afternoon, in the garden of Mrs. F. W. Kenmuir. The garden is at its prettiest at this time of the year, being a blaze of Spring flowers; but, unfortunately, after a week of brilliant sunshine, the sun refused to show itself, however, this did not prevent a large crowd from assembling, and the afternoon was a great success, socially and financially.

The Dorcas secretary, Mrs. Kenmuir, was convener; a sum of money for Dorcas work had to be raised, and this was done during the afternoon. A homecooking stall (Mrs. Millen and Mrs. H. Pidcock in charge), proved popular, and was soon sold out, which also helped to swell the finances. The sum of $38.50 was realized.

SOUTH PENDER, May 21.—An object of interest to the Island is the caterpillar tractor, owned and operated by Mr. Westbrook, of Ladysmith. It is now bringing out logs at the rate of 25,000 feet a day for Messrs. H. Spalding and C. Conery.

Mr. F. W. Galloway Sees No Hope for India Without Maintenance of British Raj

EVIL INFLUENCE OF RUSSIA TOLD

COURTENAY, May 20.—Speaking out of an experience of twenty-one years' residence in India, Mr. F. W. Galloway gave an informative address on "India at the Cross Roads," following a meeting of the Canadian Club in Cumberland on Monday night. In outlining the history of how India had been acquired, he stressed the fact that dominion status had been forced upon the people, the East India Company only taking over sovereignity under compulsion, as a trading company.

The company was much more interested in dividends than in acquiring glory. This policy had been closely followed by the succeeding Government, which had maintained the native princes and had interfered as little as possible with the religions and customs of the people. The speaker believed one of the chief causes of the present unrest in India was the work of the Brahmins. The Brahmins had always had a spiritual overlordship of India and the entry of the British Raj interfered with this to a great extent. The Brahmins did not care who ruled India as long as they could still hold this spiritual dominion.

BRAHMINS' PERSECUTION

Mr. Galloway gave particulars of the extraordinary extent to which the Brahmins practise persecution of the "untouchables." The advent of the British Raj, however, championing the low caste Indian against the Brahmins, and giving them justice and peace, was bitterly resented by the Brahmins. The Brahmin, who was a natural born student, absorbed Western culture readily but found he could not undermine the British Raj in India in spite of his efforts, so decided to work on the Home Government, with whom, the speaker said, he was more successful. The National Congress, said Mr. Galloway, was a body of extremists which could never be satisfied, and while the civil service had been Indianized there were never enough jobs to go around among the young students, many of which became envious.

RUSSIAN TROUBLE

Russia was another cause of the unrest. For a hundred years Russia had looked with envy on India. Up to 1907 the Mahommedans had been loyaly and entirely for British rule. At that time, however, the British Government had shown weakness in giving way to sect agitation. Since then many believed that their ends would be better gained by attacking the British Raj than by supporting it. Ninety-three per cent of the people of India were absolutely illiterate, and the remaining 7 per cent was the cause of all the trouble, said the speaker. This 93 per cent majority continually lived on the edge of destitution and only desired peace and justice against their many oppressors, and these they had largely obtained from the British. This, said the speaker, is the white man's burden.

He could see no solution to the trouble in India for the next generation but by the maintenance of British rule. Withdrawal of the British would mean either that the native states would absorb the rest of India, or else there would be complete anarchy. At the close of the address Mr. Galloway was accorded a hearty vote of thanks.

WITNESSES FAIL TO ATTEND SESSIONS OF WAGE BOARD

NANAIMO, May 21.—The Male Minimum Wage Board, consisting of Messrs. J. D. McNiven, Adam Bell and G. H. Cowan, which was appointed to conduct an inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the employment of licentiates of pharmacy, certified drug clerks and certified drug apprentices, of janitors, cleaners, watchmen, elevator operators and other occupations of a similar kind, met twice in the court house here yesterday. Two meetings were held, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening. No one turned up at either meeting, so there was no inquiry.

GUIDE COMMITTEE HOLDS MEETING

CHEMAINUS, May 21.—The Chemainus Girl Guide committee held its monthly meeting on Monday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Alec Work. After the reading and adoption of the minutes of the previous meeting Miss E. White delivered a message from the Porter Chapter, I.O.D.E., offering their help if required at any time. The secretary, Miss Grieg, was requested to write to the chapter, thanking them, and asking that they give the Guides their assistance by sponsoring them in the entertainment which they propose to get up in the near future. It was decided to procure further Brownie hats from Victoria, the Chemainus Brownies are to wear Boy Scout canvas hats, these being considered more serviceable for Summer and Winter seasons.

The Summer c... discussed and plans were ... to have a cabaret on June 20 to augment the company's funds. Mrs. R. B. Waldon, lieutenant, informed the meeting that she had heard from Nanaimo, inviting the Chemainus Guides, also the school children to take part, asking that they come as a body in fancy costume. The Guides intend dressing in Spanish costumes. Mrs. Waldon also announced that there would be church parade at the Calvary Baptist Church for the Empire Day service, Rev. E. M. Cook having asked the Girl Guides and members of the Porter Chapter, I.O.D.E., to be present.

Officers Elected By Canadian Club

COURTENAY, May 21.—The annual meeting of the Canadian Club was held in Cumberland on Monday night, when Mr. P. L. Anderton, of Courtenay, was elected president, and Mr. A. T. Searle, of Union Bay, vice-president. The executive was re-elected, with the exception of Mr. William Eadie, who will now take the place as past president of Mr. B. S. Abrams. The secretary made a plea for better support of the club. Better support would have to be forthcoming if the club was to carry on. During the season the club had put on seven suppers at which the average attendance had been somewhat less than the previous year.

Baseball Begins

PARKSVILLE, May 21. — On Tuesday the newly formed Athletic Club took its first baseball game of the season from the Straits Lumber Company, with a score of eight to two. On Sunday it played Qualicum Beach, and also beat them. The following represented the Parksville team: Willet Shelly, catcher; Murray Shelly, pitcher; Dick Donovan, Leo Riordan, Alf Boyd, Bill Vanderlip, Billy Boyle, Bruno Hendrickson and Pat Easton.

ENTERTAINMENT HELD AT GANGES

Programme Pleases Large Audience, Variety of Features Being Presented

SALT SPRING ISLAND, May 21.—The most successful variety entertainment seen of late years on the Island, took place last Friday evening at the Mahon Hall. It was organized by the Ganges Chapter, I.O.D.E., for the benefit of the Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Wolf Cubs and Brownies, and drew a large audience which packed the hall, and gave an enthusiastic reception to each item in turn; constant encores being insisted on. It was close on 11 p.m. when the Tableau of "Britannia," Impersonated by Mrs. Scoones, who, surrounded by over forty Scouts, Guides, Cubs and Brownies, sang "Land of Hope and Glory," which led up to the National Anthem and final falling of the curtain.

During the interval an interesting address was delivered by Col. Hepenstal, of Duncan, on the Scout Movement, the Colonel who was introduced by Mr. W. E. Scott, president of the First Salt Spring Island Company Boy Scouts, also addressed the Guides, Cubs and Brownies.

ARE WELL RECEIVED

Mr. and Mrs. A. Scoones were accorded a hearty greeting when they appeared on the stage, in "My Heart, Thy Sweet Voice," from Samson and Delilah, Mrs. Scoones was at her best, her magnificent voice showing to great advantage in this difficult song; the favorite, "A Summer Night," proved an excellent encore. Mr. Scoones, in his ever-popular "Four Jolly Sailor Boys," and in the duets with his wife, "Come to the Fair" and "Night of Love" from Tales of Hoffman, well merited the reception given.

Mrs. D'oyly Rocheford's clear soprano voice, perfect diction and artistic rendering of her songs, made her a delight to all who heard her. "In the Dark," her yodling song, with male chorus, was splendidly received.

Mrs. Layard charmed all with her delightfully rendered violin solos, and Mdlle Wanda de Turczynowicz in her wonderful Eastern dance and costume, was a vision of grace, this dance was followed by "Destiny." Capt. K. G. Halley, an old resident of Salt Spring, received quite an ovation with his Harry Lauder impersonation, "Fu the Noo" and "When Maw Put Her New Bathing Costume on." The choruses, "Happy Days Are Here Again" and "Rio Rita," proved most popular, in the latter, "If You're in Love, You'll Waltz," the "Rangers' Song" and "Rio Rita" were included. The setting and Spanish costumes made the scene pretty and picturesque, the Spanish dance by Miss Lois Wilson and Mr. C. F. Roberts was greatly applauded. As a later turn the girls of the chorus were seen to advantage in a "Minuet," which was most gracefully danced by them in suitable costumes. Those in the chorus were Mrs. A. B. Elliot, Mrs. J. Mitchell, Mrs. C. F. Roberts, Misses Mabel Harris, Clair Wilson, Doreen Crofton, Lois and Shirlie Wilson, Betty Hailey, Nancy Elliot, Capt. V. C. Best, Messrs. V. C. Morris, C. F. Roberts, K. Butterfield and L. Nicholl.

The amusing and exceedingly clever sketch of a London street scene by Gertrude Jennings, entitled "Waiting for the Bus," was splendidly acted by the following cast: Mrs. N. W. Wilson, Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. V. C. Best, Mrs. J. Mitchell, Mrs. A. B. Elliot, Misses Clair Wilson and Lois Wilson, Capt. V. C. Best, Messrs. L. Cropper and K. Butterfield, and the two children, Maureen Seymour and Bryan Inglis, this kept the house convulsed with laughter from start to finish.

Another clever, five minutes' sketch, a skit on the present day ladies' fashions, played by Miss Wendy Benson and Donald Corbett, was also capitally done, and received great applause. Mrs. Scoones and Mrs. Hague kindly acted as accompanists. During the evening several of the ladies were the recipients of most beautiful bouquets. The performance was followed by a dance, at which Hague's orchestra supplied the music.

Geese is a low, heavy-set bird which is most meat and feathers. His head sets on one end and he sits on the other. Geese can't sing much on account of the dampness of the moisture. He ain't got no between-his-toes and some geese when they get big has curls on their tails and is called ganders. Ganders don't half to sit and hatch but eat and loaf and go swimming. If I was a goose I'd rather be a gander. —Schoolboy essay.

Joyous and Vigorous like children's laughter

it is part of the happy household

BOBBIE thinks Susan can play on his team and Susan, the tomboy, would rather fight battles with lead soldiers than rock to sleep the prettiest doll in the nursery. And mother is sure that tomboy or ball player, her children's laughter is part of her happy, vigorous household.

So, tired or gay, frolicking over the nursery, sitting politely at table, Bobbie and Susan and countless other children in countless other households break into smiles and shout with joy when "Canada Dry" is placed before them.

It is a joyous beverage. It is a sparkling drink. It matches the high spirits of children and is good for them. Its purity recommends it to parents. Why? Because of its basic excellence. The very foundation of "Canada Dry" is "Liquid Ginger"—which we make from selected Jamaica ginger root by a special process. This process is controlled by us and, unlike any other method, retains for "Canada Dry" all of the original aroma, flavour and natural essence of the ginger root. Rigid laboratory control assures uniformity, purity and highest quality.

And into your household this fine old ginger ale will bring its cheer and vigor. Into your household . . . to your Bobbie and Susan . . . this fine old ginger ale will bring laughter and joy. Is there a convenient carton of 6 or 12 bottles in your pantry, for your children?

IMPORTING AYRSHIRES

ARMSTRONG—The third consignment of Ayrshire cattle for British Columbia within the year left Glasgow on the steamer Kastalia on April 25, and the animals are now in quarantine in Quebec.

STRAWBERRY CROP REDUCED

CRESTON—Only about a 75 per cent crop of strawberries is expected in the Creston Valley this year. Orders placed for box shooks substantiate this estimate, being lower by 20 per cent from the Wynndel district, the big strawberry area here. The berry area is placed at about 150 acres, 20 per cent of which is in new planting.

CANNERY FOR KAMLOOPS

KAMLOOPS—Another cannery is to be operated here this season. The name of the new concern is Columbia Canners Ltd., and Mr. W. A. Blott is the manager. Mr. H. Foreman is factory superintendent, and the old breawery premises here will be utilized by the company. About 350 acres of tomatoes have been contracted for, and an order placed here for 10,000 field boxes. A pack of 100,000 cases is proposed by the principals.

MAKING MANY BOXES

PENTICTON — The Penticton Sawmills are looking forward to a busy season in 1930, and if work continues as at present, this promise will be fulfilled. Two years ago the factory was practically all under water, but weather conditions this year have not hindered work there. The box factory is especially busy now, turning out boxes for packing houses from Naramata to the boundary line. Forty-five men are employed at the sawmills and the crew is turning out 4,000 boxes a day.

NICOLA PIONEER DIES

MERRITT—Mr. James Smith, who lived in the Nicola Valley in the days before the railway was in and before automobiles were in use, and who as a blacksmith at Coutlee shod horses in pack horse trains, died recently at the age of seventy-seven years. The late Mr. Smith, as one of the earliest of pioneers, having resided in the valley for forty-three years, was among the two or three best-known residents of the Nicola country. He was born in Scotland.

OLIVER ORCHARD LANDS

OLIVER—Figures just made available show a total of 3,200 acres will be under irrigation in this district this year. The land is all planted to orchard, vegetable and alfalfa crops. Including the bottom land, which is not irrigated from the Government system, a total of over 3,600 acres will be under cultivation. This is by far the largest acreage ever under cultivation and is almost the maximum that may be irrigated. A plentiful supply of water is assured.

Mr. A. W. Neill's Suggestion Is Given Support

OTTAWA, May 21.—The question of what is a Summer resident and where he should be allowed to vote is under consideration by the committee of the House of Commons on the Dominion Elections Act. The act as passed last session prevents persons who have Summer homes apart from their ordinary residences from voting in the constituency where the Summer home is situated.

Mr. A. W. Neill (Independent, Comox-Alberni), contended the act as it stood worked a hardship on many laborers in British Columbia who were ordinarily residents in Vancouver but spent the Summer working in the northern parts of the province, fishing and lumbering. He wanted the term Summer resident defined in such a way as to exclude these workers from the operation of the clause affecting Summer residents.

The committee in general agreed with the suggestion and the chairman, Mr. C. G. Power (Liberal, Quebec South), was instructed to have an amendment along the lines suggested by Mr. Neill prepared.

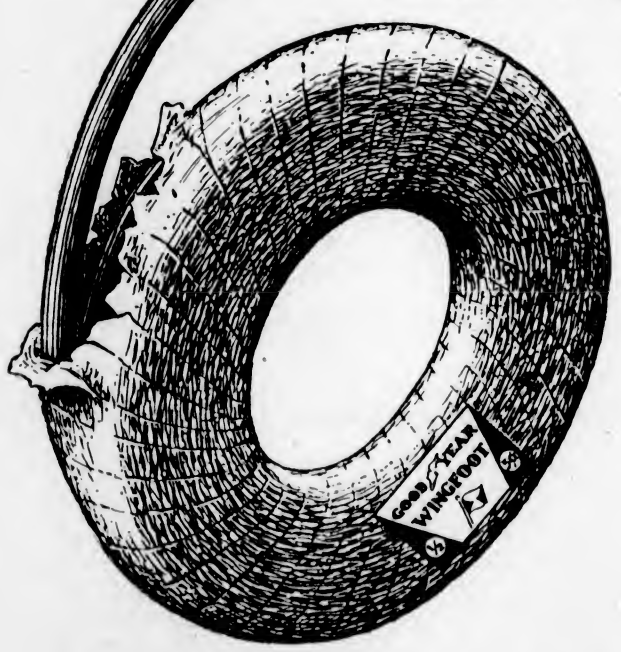

Mr. William Freno Passes at Nelson

NELSON, May 21.—Mr. William Freno, seventy-three, oldest employee of P. Burns & Co. in the Dominion, died from heart failure here yesterday.

Long before Mr. Pat Burns, cattle king, formed P. Burns & Co., Mr. Ferno traveled with Mr. Burns when supplying fresh meat for the C.P.R. construction camps on the prairies, including the period of the Riel Rebellion of 1885.

He brought to Nelson the first herd of cattle from the West, driving them from Vernon.

RUTH HITS THREE HOMERS, BUT YANKS DROP TWO

Laurie Davis and Sheila Swift Are Monterey Winners

Former Retains Boys' Aggregate Cup and Latter Wins Girls' Aggregate Cup at Annual School Track and Field Meet

The Boys' and Girls' Aggregate Cups, symbolic of the Monterey School track and field championships, will have the names of Laurie Davis and Sheila Swift engraved on them for 1930 as a result of their brilliant displays on the cinder path yesterday afternoon at the Oak Bay Park. Despite the heavy wind the meet proved one of the most successful yet held.

By his five first place victories, Davis retained the beautiful piece of silverware captured twelve months ago on the same field. Besides the aggregate trophy, Davis showed the way in the century dash for boys under thirteen and the long jump to win the Wilkerson and Birks Cups, respectively. His fine display in the five major events drew a great hand from the large crowd of school mates and parents that attended.

SHEILA SWIFT SWIFT

Sheila Swift's performances were also creditable as she showed great speed in winning three major events in the girls' division. Miss Swift annexed the Dickson Cup by romping home in first place in the girls' 100-yard dash. The champion of the fair sex section chalked up nine points to nose out W. Williams, who gathered in eight points.

R. Portway ran Davis a close second by collecting thirteen points to the champion's fifteen. Portway won three first places and two seconds for his total. Reside was third with five points. Mrs. E. M. McConnan presented the prizes after the sports.

The officials, cup winners and results of the various events follow:

OFFICIALS

Starters—Messrs. Brynjolfson and Bagshaw.

Judges—Messrs. McConnan, Curtis, Cook, Misses Cathcart, Creeden, Bradshaw, Woolleston and Mesdames Brynjolfson and Wollaston.

VARSITY RUGGERS RETURN TO COAST

Team Given Civic Luncheon on Return Home—Favorable Comments Received About Tour

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 21.—The members of the English Rugby team of the University of British Columbia returned home today from their successful tour of Eastern Canada, and were tendered a civic luncheon. In congratulating the team upon its victories, Mayor Malkin expressed his dislike for American and Canadian football, stating that he hoped the recent trip of the British Columbia ruggers had helped "drive a nail in the coffin of the American game."

"Any game in which the men must be covered from toe to cap with pads is no game at all," commented His Worship.

J. Fyfe Smith, president of the Canadian Rugby Association, said letters and telegraphs he had received from Eastern Canada since during the course of the tour, had convinced him that English Rugby would eventuallly replace the less open game in the Dominion.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Silk-Cotton Tree of Nassau—This large and peculiarly shaped silk-cotton tree is well known to all travelers to the West Indies. It belongs to the family of the Bombacacae, having digitate leaves with from three to nine leaflets, and one-flowered peduncles. A silky substance, silk-cotton, from which the tree takes its name, is obtained from the seeds. The Bombacacae grow in tropical America.

GLEN ROBBINS TO DEFEND CUP

Winner of Last Year's Colonist Bicycle Road Race and Holder of Trophy Will Compete Again

WAS FIRST CLASS "B" RIDER TO WIN

With the date already set for the eighth annual Bicycle Road Race, sponsored by The Colonist, prospective riders are already registering their entries. Glen Robbins, spectacular winner of last year's race, is now in training to defend the cup, the major trophy of the field, which he carried off with the sensational record of covering the eight-mile course in 22 minutes, 34 seconds, despite the handicap of a drizzling rain. He led the field, including class "A," mounted on racing machines, by a generous margin of 49 seconds. This was the first in the history of the race that a "B" class rider, riding a roadster bike, romped home to a triumphant finish. Despite the realization that every year brings stiffer competition as the popularity of the race grows, Robbins is confident of his powers, and is on edge to meet his opponents in the struggle for possession of the cup.

With the aim of establishing an interest in this sport The Colonist has spared neither time nor effort in the staging of the annual race. The ambition has been more than realized in the ready response of Victoria boys, together with many entries from Vancouver and the Mainland, each event showing an increased entry list each year.

SCOUT II WINS AT NEWMARKET

Half Brother of Gallant Fox Captures $5,000 Stakes by Half Length—Majeur Second

NEWMARKET, England, May 21.—The Scout II, owned by W. Woodward, won the Newmarket stakes today.

The Scout II, a baby colt, was bred in the United States and is a half brother of Gallant Fox, winner of the Kentucky Derby, Saturday, in the silks of William Woodward, of New York. The Scout II is by Sir Gallahad III, sire of Gallant Fox, out of La Rablee.

The Scout II won by half a length from the Aga Khan's Majeur, with A. R. Cox' Sea Rover, third four lengths farther back. The betting against each, respectively, was 10 to 1, 100 to 30, and 13 to 2. The stakes are 1,000 sterling (about $5,000), with extras and the distance is a mile and a quarter.

Williams and Granger Join Forces Again

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 21.—Percy Williams, Olympic sprint champion, and his fiery-thatched Bob Granger, who parted over a year and a half ago following a series of misunderstandings at various Eastern track meets, are teamed up again. Yesterday the pair shook hands and vowed that in the future nothing would come between them to break up the act that put Canada on the athletic map during the last Olympic Games.

Percy Williams

Under the direction of Granger, Williams will go into almost immediate training for the International meet which is to be staged here in July. Williams will perform at the Empire Games at Hamilton in August, and if successful there will run for the British team in the International meet at Chicago. Williams this year may confine his activities to the century dash as his leg, injured last Summer, may not stand the grind of the 200 metres or the 220 yards.

In commenting upon his reconciliation with his trainer, Williams said that working with Granger gave him greater confidence.

WILFRED RHODES TO QUIT CRICKET

Famous English Cricketer Will Retire From Game at End of Present Season

LONDON, May 21.—The retirement from active cricket at the end of this season of Wilfred Rhodes, one of the greatest players the game has produced, is announced by The Yorkshire Post.

Rhodes, who was attached to the Yorkshire county team as a professional, has been playing first-class cricket since 1898. He has played forty-one times for England in test matches against Australia, has toured the Antipodes four times and South Africa twice. At the age of fifty-two, last Winter, he played on the English team which visited the West Indies. Rhodes, who bats right and bowls left arm low, has taken a hundred wickets and over, and scored a thousand runs and over, in sixteen separate seasons.

BIG YACHTS TO RACE SATURDAY

Exciting Contest Off Beacon Hill Will Mark Opening of Club's Season

MOTORBOAT EVENT IS ALSO SCHEDULED

Arrangements have now been completed for the first race of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club's season. The starting gun for the Virtue Cup race will be fired at 11 a.m. Saturday, and there will be an engine efficiency race for motorboats in the afternoon.

The course for the Virtue Cup race has been laid in triangular form over a distance of two and a half nautical miles. The start will be from a line off Finlayson Point, and the yachts will sail round the Brotchie Light, then north to a fixed mark and back to the starting line.

Yachts eligible for this race are Harry Barnes' yawl Minena; W. H. Langley's sloop Dorothy; J. F. Dick's sloop Asthore; E. Groos' sloop Lady Joy, and Captain Crease's sloop Loon.

Given anything like a wind the odds will probably be in favor of Minena, Dorothy or Loon, but, with a light or flukey breeze Asthore or Lady Joy may easily cross the line first.

The motorboat race will be an attempt to arrive at Saanichton Spit as nearly as possible at 6 p.m., the cup for this race having been presented by Peter F. Thornton, owner of the cruiser Avon.

Vice-Commodore Robertson will be officer of the day and will be in the starter's boat.

MacWasn't Covered on This

By AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher N.Y. Giants)

Manager Joe McCarthy, of the Chicago Cubs, tells a story that gives him a big laugh.

"At the minor league convention in Chattanooga, all the magnates knew I was looking for pitchers," said Mac. "And some wise guy gave me the buzz about a real pitching find."

"He's got everything; more stuff than any pitcher in your league," the wise bird assured me.

"In a few minutes the so-called phenom showed himself," continued the Cub boss, "and who do you think it was? Big 'Side Arm' Ehmke, who had stood us on our heads in the World Series."

"Say, Joe, I thought you'd be interested in buying a covering for your diamond from me. You know I am——"

"That's as far as he got with his sales talk to me," concluded Joe. "Save your high pressure stuff for some other guy," I answered. "You're just a pitcher to me, that's all!"

Deputation of Victorians to Tee Off Today in Up-Island Championship at Qualicum

H. HAVEMYER IS DEFENDING CHAMP

When the field is let loose this morning in the qualifying round of the Up-Island golf championship, which will be held at the Qualicum Golf Club, there will be at least seven Victorians teeing off after the honors, according to word received from the Up-Island golfing paradise last night.

A. T. Goward, Dr. Barrett, Jack Matson, Captain C. I. Mackenzie, Arthur Coles, Jack Hebden and R. J. Darcus are the Capital City exponents who will be sure starters.

Other local and outside entries are expected early today.

Up to last night thirty-five competitors from Victoria, Vancouver and Island points had signified their intentions of seeking the title captured last year by H. Havemyer, of the Jericho Golf Club of Vancouver. Havemyer is expected to defend his title.

Miss Anna McBride was the lone Victorian entered in the women's championship up to yesterday. Mrs. Hew Paterson captured the honors twelve months ago, but whether or not she will be in the field is not yet known.

The men's championship will be over the eighteen-hole qualifying route with the first sixteen low scorers forming the titular flight. Those failing to qualify will be formed into flights of eight each.

Match play will commence Friday and the 1930 titleholder will be named Sunday, with the finals carded over the thirty-six holes.

Guest Having Trouble With Infected Hands

YOUNG Jack Guest, brilliant single sculler of the Don Rowing Club, who created a sensation last Summer when he took Joe Wright, Jr., of the Argonaut Club, 1928 winner of the famous Diamond Sculls, into camp in the Canadian senior single sculling final at the Canadian Henley at Port Dalhousie, left for England recently to compete in this year's "Diamonds." He is badly handicapped with a pair of infected hands. Some time ago Guest developed an infection on the ball of the thumb of his left hand, which had to be lanced, drained and treated for ten days before it healed up to the state indicated by the arrow. The other two scarred places on that hand indicated by the arrow are merely the result of ordinary blisters. Right now he is suffering from a very painful infection of the forefinger of the right hand and indicated by the arrow. The swelling is readily apparent. The finger was lanced and drained recently after the above photos were taken. The other breaks in the skin of the palms and fingers of the right hand are the results of oar-blisters. Guest will be accompanied to England by Jack Arlett, young English rowing coach, who has had charge of his training here all winter. Joe Wright and his dad, Alderman Joe Wright, will leave for England to finish "Young Joe's" training on May 31.

FOREMAN WINS BRITISH TITLE

Former Canadian Lightweight King Captures Crown in Sensational Fashion

(Canadian Press Cable)

LONDON, May 21.—Al. Foreman, of Montreal, won the British lightweight boxing championship here tonight by scoring a speedy victory over Fred Webster, holder of the title. Foreman knocked out his opponent shortly after the start of the first round of a bout which was slated to go twelve rounds.

The Montreal flash opened up with a bruising attack and had Webster in distress after a few blows had been struck.

Foreman feinted cleverly for an opening and sent in a smashing blow to the Englishman's jaw which sent him sprawling to the canvas for the count.

Foreman held the Canadian lightweight title before the crown was toppled from his brow recently by Bill Townsend, of Vancouver, B.C. Since gaining the championship decision Townsend has put on considerable weight and latest reports have it that the Vancouver boy contemplates entering the welterweight ranks. Such a development would put Foreman in line once again as the foremost claimant of the Dominion lightweight title.

Another World's Wrestling Champ Comes to Light

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 21.—Winning two of three falls with back slams which stunned his rival, John Pesek, the Ravenna, Neb., heavyweight, who claims the world's wrestling championship, defeated Ad. Santell, Oakland, Cal., wrestler, before 7,000 fans here tonight.

Pesek, whose challenges have been ignored by Gus Sonnenburg and Dick Shikat, "champions of the world," in Massachusetts and New York, respectively, thus disposed of the only man who has beaten him within the last four years. He previously had taken two decisions from Santell and lost one. He had lost only one fall in his last seventy-two matches.

BECK'S RECORD IS CONVINCING

Tacoma Fighter to Meet Tommy Fielding Here Tomorrow Night Has Many Victories

HOLDS WINS OVER BRITT AND HERMAN

Jimmy Beck, collegiate boxer from Tacoma, who will appear here Friday night against Tommy Fielding, Victoria lightweight, in the main event of the Central Boxing Club's fisticuffs show, has an enviable record. Since he has been throwing the gloves in different Coast cities the colored flash has engaged in fifty-two bouts. Fourteen of these have been won by knockouts, seventeen by decisions and sixteen draws, while he has dropped the call in but five.

The Tacoma fighter has decisions over Eddie Herman and Jimmy Britt to his credit, in addition to a raft of other boxers. Both Herman and Britt have been credited with draws with Fielding.

DEFEATED WALLACE

Gordon Wallace, rugged Vancouver battler, who has shown here, is another of Beck's victims, while Nels Fegurson, who a short time ago was creating quite a sensation in Vancouver, has twice suffered defeat at the hands of the colored Tacoma glove-thrower, once by decision and another time by the knock-out route. Petie Miller, another fighter who is known to local fans, has also tasted defeat at the hands of Beck.

Beck is twenty-one, and a student at the College of Puget Sound, Tacoma. He is earning his way through college by means of the fistic profession. A pal of Leslie "Wildcat" Carter, Beck is anxious to avenge Carter's defeat at the hands of Fielding a short time ago.

COURTENAY WINS FROM CHEMAINUS

Up-Islanders Chalk Up Four to Three Victory Over Mullmen in Island Ball Opener

CHEMAINUS, May 21.—In one of the most thrilling baseball games ever seen in Chemainus, Courtenay defeated the mill boys by a score of 4 to 3 in the opening game of the season of the Vancouver Island Baseball League, with both teams playing errorless ball. The home boys, with a man on second and third and one down, with one run scored, failed to produce the winning hit in a likely-looking ninth-inning rally. The large crowd went home feeling that at last Chemainus had a team that promises to go somewhere this season.

Scottish Champions Defeat Toronto XI, 4-3 in Close Game

Touring Glasgow Team Forced to Limit to Beat Ulster United Before 9,000 Fans—Score Two Counters in Last Seven Minutes

TORONTO, Ont., May 21.—With a finish characteristic of champions, the touring Glasgow Rangers, holders of the Scottish Cup, marked up a victory in their first game in Canada today by defeating Ulster United, of the local National League, by a score of 4 to 3.

Nine thousand spectators saw the visitors extended for the greater part of the play, and only by an heroic offensive in the final stages of the game did the Rangers display superiority. With seven minutes to go Ulster United held a lead of 3-2 and were pressing steadily, but the Scottish forwards then took command of the situation and tallied two quick goals on brilliant passing and timely shooting.

The teams were deadlocked, 1-1, at halftime.

The game will go down as one of the most thrilling soccer struggles ever played in Canada, with the Toronto side treating the spectators to a display of football which had their redoubtable opponents on their mettle from start to finish. The first goal for the tourists came from a free kick against Ulster's goalkeeper for an infringement of the rules, the second from a penalty for hands, and the third when one of the local defenders headed into his own net.

"While on the general run of the play the Rangers deserved their victory, they had only the narrowest or margains. Ulster's forwards gave a wonderful exhibition, their combination frequently being worthy of their more famous opponents, while as opportunists they excelled. The three goals they scored were each the result of movements led up to by classy bouts of passing which completely baffled the Ranger's defence.

The Rangers, at all times extended to the full, gave a polished display of all phases of the game, but their efforts were nullified mainly by the superlative goalkeeping of Kirk, in the Ulster goal. Time and again he saved his charge by rushing in among the attackers when the Ulster backs, who at times were brilliant and frequently weak, had lost control of the situation.

UNITED OVER-ANXIOUS

Over-anxiety on the part of the local defenders probably cost them the game, as at all times the Rangers played with coolness, few passes going astray, while their headwork won them many opportunities. Hamilton could not be blamed for the shots that beat him, but the snappy work of the local forwards gave the defence an anxious time, and occasionally they could not hold them. Fleming, Archibald and Morton shone on the forward line, treating the crowd to some delightful footwork.

Kirk was a tower of strength in the Ulster goal, while all the halves worked strenuously. The forwards frequently played with machine-like cohesion, and it would be impossible to single out any particular player as a star.

During the first half Rangers had most of the play. Their first goal came through Kirk handling the ball outside the prescribed area. The free kick was well taken and Brown headed in. One minute after the ball was centred Mathieson equalized, making no mistake on a breakaway after the ball was crossed from the left wing. There was no further scoring in the first half, although the ball traveled from end to end with remarkable rapidity.

SCORE FROM PENALTY

Soon after the resumption Eadie handled in the penalty area and Morton scored. Kirk partially saved the shot but could not stop it from going over the line. Again, within two minutes, Ulster drew level. The ball was pushed through to the trustful Graham, and eluding the backs in fine style he beat Hamilton with a hard shot. Shortly after, Moir, who was playing his first game of the season, put the locals ahead, scoring from a good pass by Graham.

Then the Scottish cupholders put up a terrific onslaught, and from a corner Eadie headed through his own goal—his second bad mistake. In the fading light the visitors penned the locals in their own half for the remainder of the game, and a few minutes before time Fleming scored the winning goal.

GAUNT AND CRAWFORD WIN EVENTS

Oakland and Boys' Central Athletes Capture Feature Jumps in School Field Attractions

TWO GIRLS TIED FOR FIRST PLACE

In the field events run off Tuesday afternoon at the Willows Oval by the Victoria Public Schools Athletic Association, Crawford, of Oaklands School and Gaunt, Boys' Central, captured the feature events by winning the high and broad jumps, respectively.

Gaunt, who excelled himself on the Rugby field during the Winter, was in fine form to walk off with the broad jump at 15 feet 11 1-2 inches.

Joseph Addison, of North Ward, was the winner in the hop, step and jump, with a mark of 36 feet 3 inches.

In the girls' division the first place honors were divided when Ella Bremmer, of Sir James Douglas, and Ruth Bennett, of North Ward, finished in a deadlock. Both cleared the bar in the high jump at 4 feet 5 inches. In the junior section the boys and girls were also tied, with Lockwood, of Oaklands, and Olga Schwengers, Girls' Central, clearing the bar at 4 feet 2 inches.

Up-Island Cricketers Chalk Up 119-45 Victory in Exhibition Match —Mowbray's Bowling Feature

Cowichan Cricket Club defeated University School eleven by 74 runs in an exhibition match played at Mount Tolmie yesterday afternoon, the score being: Cowichan, 119; University School, 45.

While six of the opposing batsmen reached double figures, the bowling of Mowbray, of the Cowichan Club, was something that had a lot to do with their victory. Bowling with good length and deadly precision, Mowbray took six wickets for 17 runs, for an average of less than three runs per wicket.

Drum and Hamber shared the bowling honors for the school getting six and three wickets respectively. Hamber also led the losing batsmen with a nicely played 17. the scores:

Next game, tomorrow—Jokers vs. Elks.

SONS of Canada checked in with their second straight victory in the Senior Amateur Baseball League last night at the Royal Athletic Park, when they humbled the Eagles, 8-3. The win lifted the Canadians out of the cellar position for the first time this season and pushed the feathered tribe down into the bottom berth.

Lloyd Cann, who went to the hillock for the Sons, let the Eagles down with four hits, which he kept well scattered. He breezed seven. It marked the first win of the season for the youthful slab artist.

Bill Holness made his debut on the mound for the feathered tribe and heaved fairly good ball, but his teammates afforded him the worst of support. The sons collected nine safeties from his offerings, including a circuit smash by Hilton and a double by Bill Holman. He sent six of the opposing batters back to the dugout via the strike-out route.

Seven miscues were marked up against his teammates.

Long Distance Swim Will Be Staged Again

TORONTO, May 21.—It has been learned that definite announcement will be made in the near future that the annual professional swimming events for men and women will be held as usual at the Canadian National Exhibition. The Globe says today. It was thought in some quarters the affair might be discontinued to make way for other aquatic attractions. Undoubtedly there will be many entrants, some of them good and some of them just the reverse, but Ernst Vierkoetter and Eddie Keating will get the opportunity to renew their bitter feud.

Vierkoetter, now a full-fledged Canadian citizen, will represent Toronto in the marathon event, while George Young will try a comeback.

It's impossible to get real mad with a pipe in your mouth

MOVE UNDER WAY TO HAVE WOMEN'S SPORTS CONTINUED

BERLIN, May 21.—Strong pressure in favor of the continuance of women's Olympic track and field events in the 1932 Games at Los Angeles was brought to bear today by the International Amateur Athletic Federation in session here.

Unless the women are allowed to compete, the world's male athletes as represented in the I.A.A.F. will adopt a policy of nonco-operation in regard to the Olympics, it was indicated.

A resolution proposed by Gustavus T. Kirby, of New York, was adopted by the federation at its closing session today, which provides that the I.A.A.F. shall remain in Berlin in recess, ready to be called together should the Olympic Congress, convening next week, decide to eliminiate the women's track and field events.

MARINE and TRANSPORTATION

GOLD MOVEMENT PROVES HEAVY

Canadian Steamship Lines Transport Fair Amount of Total Shipments by by Superior Speed

JAPANESE STEAMERS GET 75,400,000 YEN

By PERCY WHITEING
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.

TOKIO—(By Mail)—It is now possible to review the trend of the gold specie movement from Japan across the Pacific since the embargo on the export of the precious metal was removed by the Tokio Government early in January this year.

Up to and including the last Canadian sailing from Yokohama on April 17, the amount of gold that has been shipped from Japan comes to 174,900,000 yen, or $87,450,000 at the nominal exchange of 50 cents to the yen.

Of this, the most valuable cargo by far that has ever crossed the Pacific, Canadian vessels carried the respectable amount of 48,700,000 yen, or something over 25 per cent. This was divided among five sailings from Kobe and Yokohama to Victoria and Vancouver.

American steamers secured, with eight sailings—five to Seattle and three to San Francisco—50,800,000 yen. Of this 29,500,000 yen went via the former port and 21,300,000 yen to the latter.

Seventy-five million four hundred thousand yen was shipped by Japanese vessels. Six sailings took 70,100,000 yen to San Francisco and two sailings carried 5,300,000 yen to Seattle.

That Canadian steamers, with only five sailings, were able to secure such fair proportion of the total was due to their superior speed, insuring the quickest delivery.

The bulk of the gold shipped by Japanese vessels was consigned by Japanese banks, who not unnaturally displayed a tendency to patronize ships flying their own flag.

FAR NORTH RADIO PLANTS PLANNED

Department of Marine and Fisheries Will Add to Network in Arctic

OTTAWA, May 21.—Involving an expediture of approximately $67,000, two low power radio stations are to be established by the Dominion Government in the Far North, one at Coppermine, Coronation Gulf, and the other at Chesterfield Inlet.

These additions to the network stations linking up the Arctic with the rest of Canada have already been approved by order in council, and the work of installation is to be carried out immediately by the Department of Marine and Fisheries.

Decision to establish the Coppermine station is timely in view of the influx of prospectors which is anticipated in the district.

NAVAL PARLEY REPORT GIVEN

Japanese Cabinet Discusses Problem of Ratifying Treaty Arising Out of London Meeting

OPPOSITION SAID TO BE SUBSIDING

TOKIO, May 21.—The Cabinet today heard the full report of Admiral Takarabe, Minister of the Navy, on the London Conference, and discussed the problem of ratifying the treaty, to which the navy general staff's opposition is authoritatively understood to be subsiding.

Admiral Kato, chief of the navy general staff, this morning visited the home of Lieut.-Commander Eiji Kusakari, who committed suicide Monday. Kato burned incense before Kusakari's coffin. Kusakari was said to have been favored subordinate of Admiral Kato.

Navy authorities told newspapermen today that there had been no direct connection between the suicide and Kusakari's attitude toward the London treaty. "Indignation" over Japan's naval position was given yesterday by the vernacular press as the cause of the hari kari.

It was generally believed that Kusakari was temporarily deranged as the result of overwork.

HIKAWA TO DOCK HERE ON TUESDAY

New Nippon Yusen Kaisha Motorship Is Day Ahead of Time From Japan

Halibut Landings

PRINCE RUPERT, May 21.—Canadian halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert for the week of May 10 to 16 inclusive were the heaviest for any week since the opening of the 1930 season, totaling 360,400 pounds and bringing the Canadian total for the season to date up to 2,175,000 pounds. Oddly enough, American landings of the week were the lightest but one of the season, totaling 280,700 pounds.

Last week the port shipped 667,487 bushels, as compared with 740,019 bushels for the corresponding week in 1929.

Elevator stocks were 8,405,194 bushels today, and railways reported 786,300 bushels en route.

Bookings for the balance of May, which may extend into June, are for 1,293,332 bushels and there are ships in port today loading or to load 585,866 bushels.

FIRST LORD OF ADMIRALTY ORDERS RESUMPTION OF 1929 PLANS

Cruiser and Two Destroyers Also to Be Constructed in British Shipyards

LONDON, May 21.—Right Hon. A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, informed the House of Commons today that orders had been given for work to proceed on some vessels of the 1929 naval programme. This will include the three submarines upon which work had been held up pending outcome of the naval conference.

Such orders, said Mr. Alexander, had been given regarding the six-inch gun cruiser Leander to be built at the Devonport Dockyard and two destroyers to be built at Portsmouth.

"Tenders for a destroyer leader and two remaining destroyers which will be built by contract, are now under consideration," he said. "It is proposed to proceed forthwith with the building of three submarines, two of approximately 650 tons each and one of approximately 1,800 tons. The smaller submarines will be built at the Chatham Dockyard, and the larger one by contract."

CANNERS AFTER LOWER FREIGHT

RAILWAY RATE DISCRIMINATION FAVORS EASTERN MANUFACTURERS

British Columbians Will Take Case Before Commission at Dominion Capital

VANCOUVER, May 21.—British Columbia's fruit and vegetable canning industry made plans today to appeal for redress to the Railway Commission against a serious rate discrimination in favor of Eastern canners, which threatens to cut provincial manufacturers from at least half of their principal market, the Prairie Provinces.

The situation arises out of a rate-cutting war among the navigation companies on the Great Lakes, which has reduced the rail-water tariff from Ontario to Winnipeg by twenty-one cents. The Ontario shipper will be able to land his product in Winnipeg at eighty-seven cents per hundred pounds for a 24,000-pound car, while the Vancouver shipper will have to pay $1.26½ per hundred pounds for a 60,000-pound car.

Meeting here today, Mr. Thomas Bullman, president of Bullman's Ltd., Vernon; Mr. C. D. Hunter, managing director of Empress Manufacturing Co., Ltd., and Mr. Robert Broder, head of Broder Canning Co., Ltd., laid plans to carry the fight to the commissioners.

These men declare that, unless immediate relief is granted, the canning industry in British Columbia will suffer serious loss. They are carrying their fight to the Railway Commission, it is declared, because both railways have refused redress or assistance.

AIR MAIL ROUTE PROVES POPULAR

Number of Letters Carried Over Prairies Exceeds All Expectations

REGINA, May 21.—The volume of air mail carried over the Prairie air mail service in the first three months of its operation has exceeded all expectations of the postoffice department, it was stated on Wednesday by Mr. P. T. Colligan, assistant deputy postmaster-general, on his arrival in the city from Ottawa. Mr. Colligan is on an inspection trip of the West.

One of the main reasons for his visit to Regina is to settle amicably the controversy in regard to the air mail base for the northwest service which now exists between Regina and Moose Jaw. The latter city is now the local point of the service.

MR. CHURCHILL IS CRITICAL

Tells Commons That Snowden Budget Is Most Devastating of Any on Record

FISCAL POLICY HAS HAMPERED INDUSTRY

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, May 21.—The House of Commons yesterday heard another vigorous attack upon the Snowden budget delivered by the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, former Conservative Chancellor of the Exchequer. It heard also expressions from the left-wing Laborites, from the Liberal party, represented by Sir Herbert Samuel, and from the Government itself.

"Anyone engaged in trade and commerce would say, without hesitation, that this budget is the most devastating of any on record," declared Mr. Churchill. "The proposals of the Chancellor of the Exchequer have penalized thrift, have helped to drive large sums of money from this country, as a result of high taxation and depression, have hampered industry and petrified employment."

WILL RUN GREAT RISK

Mr. Snowden, the former Chancellor warned, "will run a great risk if he cancels the safeguarding duties, owing to a rigid free trade doctrine. Safeguarding provides employment and yields good revenue to the treasury."

Britain's expenditures on the social service were twice as great as those of any other country in the world, Mr. Churchill stated, and the revenue to meet such huge expenditures could come only from industry.

"We are putting a burden on industry which threatens the very existence of the social services."

SUPPORTS PROPOSALS

Sir Herbert Samuel, one of the "Big Five" Liberals, supported the budget, although he admitted that it imposed an exceedingly heavy burden on the taxpayer. Mr. Snowden, he believed, was prepared to pay his way, and if there was any improvement in the condition of trade, the budget might yield a considerable surplus next year.

Committee Passes Allowance Bill For War Veterans

OTTAWA, May 21.—The bill providing for allowances for "burned out" and unemployable returned soldiers passed a special committee of the Senate today. It was amended only in a matter of terminology and, accordingly, will be referred back to the House of Commons for approval before becoming law.

It provides for allowances for a single man not to exceed $240 a year, less the amount of his income in excess of $125 a year. In the case of a married man, the allowance shall be $480 a year, less the amount of his income in excess of $250 a year.

Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Pensions, said the cost to Canada through the act will be $2,000,000 the first year, increasing according to the expectancy-of life tables to a peak of $18,000,000 in 1957.

Here and There in Canada With Magnetic Compass

By C. A. FRENCH

The Map Shows the Magnetic Declination at a Number of Points Across Canada. The Direction of the Compass Needle Is Indicated by the Arrow. The Inset Illustrates the Direction of Lines of Force Around a Bar Magnet Shown by Iron Fillings.

Editor's Note.—This is the seventeenth of a series of fortnightly articles prepared under the auspices of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada by various members of the organization scattered from coast to coast. It is hoped thereby to accomplish one of the aims of the society, namely, the diffusion of astronomical knowledge to the ordinary person. The next article will appear on May 31.

If iron filings are scattered over a paper beneath which is a magnet, they arrange themselves in lines or curves. These suggest the idea of lines of magnetic force, a term used for more than a century in referring to the influence exerted by a magnet in the surrounding space. Each of the particles indicates the direction of the force at the point and acts as a small magnet.

It is now generally known that at every place on the earth's sudface the compass has a definit direction. This indicates the presence of a magnetic field, or lines of force in the space around the earth. The earth, therefore, acts like a great magnet.

In 1492 Columbus, while on his voyage to the New World, discovered that the magnetic needle does in general point true north, but varies from place to place. The reason for this is that the compass is directed towards the magnetic pole which is some distance from the true pole. The position of the north magnetic pole, as determined by Amundsen and indicated on the accompanying map, is in latitude 70 deg. 5 N. and lingitude 95 deg. 5 W. The opposite or south magnetic pole is approximately in latitude 73 deg. S and longitude 156 deg. E.

Less than a century after this discovery by Columbus, it was found that, if a compass needle is horizontal at one place, it will tilt if transported north or south. The deviation from the horizontal is determined with a dip circle in which the magnetic needle rotates in a vertical plane about a horizontal axis. The deviation of the compass needle from the true north is called the declination, which the departure from the horizontal is shown as dip or inclination.

To complete the measurements of the earth's magnetic field, there is also determined the value of the magnetic force. This is the force exerted on the magnet which determines its direction. Like the declination, both the inclination and force vary from place to place.

For the study of the earth's magnetism, a knowledge of the three magnetic elements over the whole earth is important. Especially is this so of the declination on account of its use in nautical and aerial navigation. As a result, systematic magnetic surveys are being carried on in practically every civilized country. One was inaugurated in Canada in 1907 by the Dominion Observatory. This means, briefly, that the country is covered with a network of stations at each of which is determined the declination, inclination and force.

The accompanying map illustrates the results of declination observed at a few of several hundred stations scattered across Canada. The arrow indicates the direction of the compass needle with respect to the true north, while the figures express the value. Thus at Nottingham Island the declination is 48 deg. 19' W and at Victoria it is 24 deg. 26' E.

The following are a few of the inclinations observed: Nottingham Island, 84 deg. 33'; Ottawa, 75 deg. 45'; Winnipeg, 78 deg. 09'; The Pas, 80 deg. 01'; Victoria, 71 deg. 15'. At the magnetic pole this is 90 deg., that is to say, the needle stands vertical.

To cover the country adequately is a big task. In addition it is necessary to keep a check in the changes that are going on continually. The change in each of the elements over a period of years is known as secular variation. At Sydney the compass changed its direction from 25 deg. 28' W. to 26 deg. 14' W between 1910 and 1920. That is to say, the north end moved west so that the direction changed 46'. At Quebec the corresponding change was 1 deg. 14' W.; Ottawa, 1 deg. 18' W.; Winnipeg, 1 deg. 47' W.; Victoria, 4' W. At the latter place the north end moved east for part of the period, then reversed its direction. At Winnipeg a reversal took place about 1908. Recent observations show that in the vicinity of the Strait of Belle Isle the north end is moving east.

The magnetic elements also undergo a periodic daily change known as diurnal variation, being due, it is believed, to some influence exerted by the sun. In addition, the elements are subject to occasional violent changes or magnetic storms. These are usually associated with auroral displays and sunspots.

In spite of our increase in knowledge respecting the distribution and changes of the earth's magnetism, the main causes of these still remain a mystery.

DRIVER OF CAR IS FOUND GUILTY

Absence of Visible Traffic Does Not Make Speed Safe, George Jay Points Out

Charged with driving to the common danger on Douglas Street on May 1, Albert Woodruff was found guilty by Magistrate George Jay in the city police court yesterday, and was fined $25. City Prosecutor C. L. Harrison appeared for the Crown, and Mr. A. J. Patton for the accused.

Provincial Constable Carmichael testified that at about 8 o'clock in the evening of the day in question he had seen two cars come racing up Roderick Street and turn into Douglas Street, one of them nearly overturning. He had followed them south along Douglas Street, maintaining an even distance behind them, and the speedometer in his car had registered forty-seven miles an hour. At the top of the incline by the brickyard, he had stopped them, as it was evident, he said, that, if they had continued, there would almost certainly be an accident. There was a speed governor on the car, sealed by the "Drive Yourself" garage from which the car had been hired. The governor was of a type which could easily be tampered with, and for that reason a Government seal had been refused for such governors.

Woodruff and a passenger, gave evidence for the defence, alleging that they had looked at the speedometer on their car and that it had shown a speed of less than thirty miles, also that the governor had not been tampered with and would not allow the car to go more than thirty-five or forty miles to the hour. One car had driven past the other, but they had not been racing, and there was virtually no traffic visible on the street at the time, they stated. Lawrence Crowe, a mechanic in the garage, testified that the seal in the governor had not been removed.

The court held that the evidence given for the defence by the driver and passenger, was in part conflicting and that in view of all the circumstances was not credible. In pronouncing conviction Magistrate Jay commented on the increasing number of automobile accidents, and observed that it was a mistake to think that a car could be driven at a high rate of speed if no traffic was visible. Many accidents had occurred in cases when another car or a pedestrian had unexpectedly appeared, from some intersecting street or otherwise. It was evident, he added, that the automatic speed governor on the car was not such as would prevent a car from being driven at an excessive speed.

A paid-off seaman, carrying a partly covered birdcage, approached a quietly situated house and rang the bell.

When the lady of the house answered the summons he began—"I've a fine bird here, mum, if you would care to look—"

"Can't you read that notice?" interrupted the lady sharply, pointing to the familiar placard, "No hawkers."

"Yes, mum—but this ain't a hawk—it's a parrot."

Peter Uses His Heels for a Purpose

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Some people take peculiar joy
In seeking beauty to destroy.
—Peter Rabbit.

A little bramble-tangle was growing right near where Peter had found the Columbine. He could sit in that bramble-tangle and be safe and at the same time look at and admire the nodding blossoms. So Peter made himself very comfortable there. From time to time he dozed off. Between each little nap he watched the Columbine blossoms as the Merry Little Breezes swayed them this way and that.

It was along in the middle of the morning that Peter heard voices. They were the voices of children. They were laughing and shouting and Peter knew by the sound that they were in the lower part of the Old Pasture. At first he paid little attention to them. Then curiosity led him to go to see what they were doing. He didn't have to go far, for by this time they were halfway up to where he had been sitting.

Peeping out from beneath some brambles, Peter saw two boys and a girl. In the hands of all three were flowers, and Peter saw they were looking for more flowers. He heard the little girl give a shriek of delight when she found a patch of exquisite arbutus. From where Peter sat he could watch her. He saw her tear it up, root and all. Afterwards she broke off some of the roots. Peter wanted to stamp angrily at her. He knew it was thoughtlessness on her part, but he also knew that in time there would be no arbutus left if everyone were so thoughtless. Later he saw one of the boys do the same thing.

Some of the flowers in the hands of these children were sadly wilted, all their beauty was gone. Peter knew just how lovely they had been growing and he couldn't understand at all why these children should want those sickly, drooping blossoms, which no longer were beautiful. But they did want them and they wanted more, for they were searching here, there and everywhere.

Then Peter remembered the Columbine blossoms up on the rocky ridge. Those children would be sure to find them and, if they found them, they would not only take the blossoms, but the whole plant as well. At least, that is what Peter feared. He must do something about it. Yes, sir, he must do something about it and he must do it quickly. But what could he do? He couldn't tell those little folk that they shouldn't pick the flowers. Of course not. Then Peter remembered how often he had been chased by boys.

"I'll have to use my long heels to save those flowers," said he to himself, and hopped out into one of the winding cowpaths. Up this path Peter hopped. Presently, just ahead of him, he saw one of the boys. Peter stopped. Then he thumped the ground with his long hindfeet. The boy heard him thump and turned. Of course he saw Peter at once. Right then and there he forgot all about the flowers. "A Rabbit!" he shouted. "Here's a Rabbit!"

After him raced the children

At once the other little boy and the little girl came running over. Peter dodged into the bushes at one side. The children threw stones and sticks. Peter ran out. Away he went, lipperty-lipperty-lip, down the little cowpath and dodged into a bramble-tangle. After him raced the children. They saw him in the bramble-tangle and tried to drive him out. When he saw a good chance he slipped out and away he went, lipperty-lipperty-lip, for another bramble-tangle. The children followed—excited, shouting and out of breath. Peter wasn't at all afraid. It was all a game to him. And so, little by little, he led them far away from the part of the Old Pasture where the Columbine was growing. Then, when they were quite tired out, Peter gave the children the slip.

Once more he made his way back to the little bramble-tangle where he could watch the Columbine blossoms. "Of course, you don't know it," said he, "but I have saved you with my long heels. Why, oh why, do people want to destroy such beautiful things!"

The next story: "Peter Finds Out a Secret."

Jowless—My wife prefers tea for breakfast, while I prefer coffee.

Minks—Then I suppose it is necessary to have both, eh?

Jowless—Oh, no, we compromise!

Minks—In what way?

Jowless—We have tea!

Two men were seated in a crowded tramcar. One noticed that the other had his eyes closed.

"Say, Bill, ain't you well?" he said.

"I'm all right," replied Bill, "but I do 'ate to see ladies standin'!"

Try a Guinness every day with your dinner. There can be no more pleasant way of improving appetite, digestion and general fitness.

To ensure perfect condition Guinness should never be served COLD.

FINANCE - COMMERCE - MARKETS

Bears Find Comparatively Easy Picking in Trading On Stock Market at N.Y.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The bears found comparatively easy picking in today's stock market. With the exception of rallies in the food and rail shares, the short interest had the list virtually to itself. Although the close was enlivened by another flurry of covering, final prices of U.S. Steel, American Telephone, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric and American Can were off on the day.

However, the market lost none of its professional character and trading again dwindled, totaling 2,078,400 shares. Professionals toyed with J. I. Case, moving it up a couple of points and then dropping it about 23, only to bring it up 5 points from the low at the close. The net loss was 1 3-4.

BUYING OF RAILS

Buying of the rails was pushed rather vigorously early and gains of 1 to 3 points in Atchison, New York Central, Union Pacific and Pennsylvania resulted. Missouri-Kansas-Texas climed 4 points. National Biscuit was strong, approaching its year's high. American Machine & Foundry soared 16 points.

A rise of 3-32 in sterling cables was accompanied by reports the Bank of England contemplated another reduction in its rediscount rate.

Foreign currencies held generally steady.

The Bond market was lethargic today, returning to its slow pace of the past few weeks, after early orders were satisfied. Best investment bonds in the railroad and utility group moved up slightly. Industrials slumped.

RUTH HOPE DOES BIG YEAR'S WORK

Considerable Prospecting Carried Out at Lower Levels—Annual Report Issued

(Meharey, Roe & Co., Ltd.)

In the Ruth workings considerable work was carried on during the year on No. 5 level of the Ruth in an endeavor to locate the extension downwards of the ore body discovered in the previous year. This has not as yet been located. However, it probably extends downwards about one hundred feet below the point at which it was attacked last year, at which point it is apparently displaced by a shear zone paralleling the vein in strike but of flatter dip and the possibilities below are not yet exhausted. Some prospecting was done on the Ruth vein above No. 5 level about twelve hundred feet from the Portal, but this was practically unproductive.

In the workings on the Silversmith vein the extension downwards of the main part of the north vein was located somewhat above No. 6 level with a nice body of ore, but this at the bottom is cut off by a shear somewhat above the No. 6 level and has not yet been located below. The main winze has been prepared for singing below No. 6 levcl and has been equipped with a new hoist for that purpose.

Some diamond drilling was done but mainly with negative results. One hole below No. 6 level in the west end showed a little lead. Under the east working towards the Silversmith no ore was found. Ore was mined from No. 6 level on the Silversmith vein and from between No. 4 and No. 5 levels on the Ruth vein, also a small amount from above No. 2 level.

No. 4 level of the Ruth was reopened at the inner end with a view to further prospecting above, as the vein has not yet been prospected between No. 4 and No. 2 levels about 250 feet.

Such drifting, cross-cutting and raising as has not been productive, or whose usefulness is ended, has been written off against the cost of mining to an amount of $39,842.78. Other drifting, cross-cutting and raising, also alterations to the main shaft, are carried to development account.

Plant account was added to by the provision of a new hoist for the shaft and sundry equipment for mine and mill. An arrangement was made with Messrs. Alexander and Forster, owners of the property, providing that the balance due them shall be payable out of royalty on ore extracted. A dispute with the Silversmith, in consequence of breaking into part of their workings, has been settled.

Negotiations were commenced with Canadian Brandon Mines for control of their property, which lies to the south of the Ruth-Hope holdings. This property has a good showing of ore in one of its tunnels and it is hoped that the extension of the lower tunnels will prove up a considerable tonnage. An arrangement was entered into early this year, which it is hoped may be carried through.

It is also hoped that some arrangement may be made which will permit of the mine being reopened before long.

BULGES NOT MAINTAINED AT CHICAGO

Lack of Buying Power Apparent in Wheat Market—Export Business Light

CROP REPORT FROM SOUTHWEST MIXED

(B.C. Bond Corporation, Ltd.)

CHICAGO, May 21.—Strength in Liverpool was largely responsible for a small upturn in the local wheat market at the start, with shorts and locals fair buyers, but the upturn brought out selling orders and a break of over 1 1-4 cent from the early high followed.

Trade in the aggregate was light, and the market easily influenced. Busnos Aires was 1-2 cent higher at midday.

Export demand at seaboard was rather slow, but there were more inquiries in the market, and the undertone was somewhat firmer. Dry weather was reported in Spain, while elsewhere in Europe it was generally cold and wet, with sunshiney weather needed.

Crop reports from the Southwest continue mixed. Corn was under pressure, due to generally favorable weather for field work. Prices declined over one cent from yesterday's finish, with buying against bids a factor in checking the decline. Buenos Aires' prices were unchanged to 1-2 cent higher at midday. Oats were firm early, with May in the lead, but market weakened later with other grains and dropped back to around yesterday's finish. Rye was influenced mainly by action of wheat.

CUTS IN PRICE OF FLOUR ANNOUNCED

TORONTO, Ont., May 21.—Within a period of two weeks, the Canadian Millers' Association has announced two cuts of 30 cents per barrel each in the price of flower. The latest announcement came last night when Spring wheat patents, firsts, were scaled down to $7.30 a barrel, with seconds at $6.70, and strong bakers at $6.30. Winter patents, choice, are quoted from $5.25 to $5.35, while there have been corresponding cuts in the prices of bran, shorts and middlings.

Bran is $2 per ton lower at $31.25; Shorts are down $1 per ton at $23.25; while middlings are $1 off at $36.25.

The view point last night of some in close touch with the bakery and milling industry was that the latest cut had come as an effort to stimulate foreign buying.

Does the cost of living affect Bond values?

It is not true that when the cost of living is high "everything costs more". Bonds are an exception. That is the very time they cost the least.

Bond prices tend to fall while the cost of living rises, and rise while it falls.

In dollars per year, the income from a bond is always the same. Some years those dollars will buy more; some years less.

If, as happens when the cost of living is rising, the income from a bond will buy less than the income from the same bond a year ago, the bond is a less desirable thing to own, and its price drops. Vice versa is true, too.

As a rule, the best time to buy good long term bonds is when the cost of living is at its peak—but, unfortunately, that is the very time when it is hardest for most of us to spare the money.

Market Now Loses Ground Says Whitney

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, May 21.—Today's rally not only came too late in the day to be of any real value, but failed to assume even the normal proportions of the two or three expected points which was hoped for. The net result of the day was that it failed to prevent the list from closing down at average points, canceling the previous day's gain and bringing us to a point lower than the average closing price of last Monday, to the extent that any individual issues, however, are still meeting support at their low points of last Monday.

I think that we have the establishment of a line of resistance which may result in some bouncing around in a two or three-point range above the resistance points clearly disclosed in Monday's and Tuesday's markets. I think, nevertheless, that these points will be broken and that advantage, therefore, should be taken, just as it has been in the last two days, of any one-hour rallies to get out of the market, the reason for this attitude being that we see no profits in prospect proportionate to the risk assumed in carrying stocks.

I do not think you should pay too much attention to some of the current rumors of a big decrease in brokers' loans after the close tomorrow, as the probabilities are about equally balanced between a moderate increase and a moderate decrease, with my personal opinion being that, in spite of recent market weakness, chances favor a small increase. The more important point is that brokers' loans have neither been afloat in the two weeks nor are they at this time, and for that matter have not been since last December, with the exception of the time at which their importance was stressed here about a month ago, on the occasion of their having risen, to the point where they represented a one-billion-dollar advance over the low levels of last Fall. In other words, the next few brokers' loans figures are about in the same intermediate and market-wise unimportant position as the majority of the ordinary significant factors of the next few weeks, and I believe that, when the bottom of the current decline is registered, it will be because of the completion of accumulation which is as yet not sufficient in scope, not in enough of the market issues to bring about a culmination of decline at this point. Until such time, and until business gives us some fairly tangible evidence of its turn, I believe the market will continue to work toward lower levels, and that you are better out of it.

STRENGTH IN CABLES SENDS WHEAT HIGHER

With Little Selling Pressure Market Holds Most of Opening Bulge in First Half

EXPORT BUSINESS CONTINUES SMALL

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, May 21. — Wheat opened 7-8 higher this morning with a little scattered buying at the start due to the strength in cables. Trade volume was quite small, but there was little selling pressure, and the market was able to hold most of the opening bulge during the first half of the session, after which one prominent broker unloaded a fair quantity of long July wheat which filled up the local crowd, and the market declined about 11-4 cents, getting fractionally under last night's close.

Export business continued slow, although sales of Manitobas were finally estimated at 425,000 bushels, but very little of it was reflected in this market. Seaboard advices stated that, while export business was only moderate, there was a little better tone to the cables and more inquiry was in evidence.

The local demand for cash wheat was again slow. Canadian mills took a little No. 2 Northern, but otherwise the volume changing hands was very small. Crop news was mostly favorable from both Winter and Spring wheat belts, the weather being clear and moderately warm in the South, while Alberta and western Saskatchewan reported showers to rains, the latter being heavy in northern Alberta, where most needed. Some snow fell in Alberta, but temperatures were moderate.

In the late trade and on the break some good buying developed for continental account, and prices reacted to around the early high marks, with some short covering also in evidence. With good weather we believe price bulges will be difficult to hold, but doubt if price decline will be much at this time.

Coarse grain markets held more or less steady, but the trade volume was very light and featureless; holders were not pressing the market. The cash markets remain dull, and very little oats, barley, or rye is changing hands. Flax somewhat easier, with a small featureless trade passing.

AMALGAMATED OIL STOCK IS MART FEATURE

Makes Big Gain on Urges of Buying — Calmont, Okalta and Mercury Advance at Vancouver

POPULAR MINING LEADERS DECLINE

VANCOUVER, May 21.—Amalgamated snapped out of its slump today, and, providing the Vancouver Stock Exchange with its feature, ran up 9 1-2 cents to 29 1-2 on a surge of buying. Reports of improved prospects at the Amalgamated wells caused the sudden upturn, and the action of that issue had a steadying effect on the rest of the oils. Calmont was up 6 cents at 1.65, while Okalta jumped 8 cents to 68. Mercury sold up to 43 for a gain of 8 1-2 cents on a good turnover. Merland was fairly active but closed unchanged at 23.

The mines were dull with the recent popular leaders dropping to lower levels. Big Missouri was off 2 cents at 53, while George Copper dropped 5 cents to 1.36. Pend Oreille gained 3 cents to 1.50.

Tape Topics

A listless market in general was that experienced yesterday at New York, where Calumet and Arizona fell off ten points following an announcement that the dividend had been reduced to $2 annual basis. Scattered selling in the coppers resulted, this condition not being helped by the fact that the copper market is dull, with prices at $12.50 a cwt.

Trading was very light, with only 2,073,800 shares changing hands during the session, most of the attention being centred around General Motors, Consolidated Gas, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, and Radio, with General Motors stronger, selling as high as 50 5-8 for the day. In the averages industrials were off 1.58, rails up .94, and utilities off .42.

In reference to the trading rut which has now been experienced for some little time, due, it is said, not to any great amount of investment holdings having been dislodged, but to professional operations. A New York opinion says, "We believe that the market has about completed its secondary reaction, and that further periods of weakness should be used to accumulate sound dividend-paying issues. Although an immediate resumption of the major bull market is not likely, chances favor upside for the balance of the year in general."

Leaders in the mines at Toronto showed advances. Noranda went from $28.65 and sold last at $29. Ventures appreciated from $1.50 to $1.58, Wright Hargreaves from $1.96 to $1.97, Sherritt Gordon from $1.85 to $1.88, and International Nickel from $32.15 to $32.25, closing $32.25-$32.50.

Amulet advanced from 77 cents to 80 cents, Howey sold at 91 cents and Teck Hughes from $6.75 to $6.70. In the oils a very heavy amount of Ajax stock changed hands, starting at $1.90, touching $2.07 and selling at the finish at $2.05. Nordon was also an active stock, although not in the same large proportion, from $1.65 to $1.69.

Inactivity continued in the local oils market, where Amalgamated, the largest trader, advanced from 23 cents to 29 1-2 cents, closing prices being 29 1-2-30 cents. Mercury also appreciated, rising from 36 cents to 41 cents and closing at 43-44 cents. Mill City sold a few shares at 45 cents, Calmont at $1.60 to $1.62, A.P.C. around $1.38, and Home from $7 to $6.95.

Inconsiderable transactions were recorded in the local mines. Premier sold at 95 cents, went to $1 and back again to the opening figure. Big Missouri sold at 55 cents, Golconda at 82 cents, and Snowflake at 10 cents. Further Woodbines were accumulated at around 4 cents, Reeves McDonald changed hands at from 60 cents to 50 cents, and Grandview at 8 cents.

AJAX STOCK IS IN LIMELIGHT

MOST SENSATIONAL IN TRADING VOLUME AND PRICE RANGE AT TORONTO

Improved Mineralization Reported From Newbec—Dome Blocking Out Mill Feed Ore

(Mason & Diespecker)

TORONTO, May 21.—Active trading interest in three or four oil stocks in the listed and unlisted sections of the Standard Mining Exchange, together with more action in a couple of the penny issues in the metal group, were responsible for general improvement in sales on Tuesday. The betterment in trading was also reflected in a stronger price tone, although in most cases price changes were proportionately small. Ajax proved the most sensational stock on the board yesterday, both in trading volume and price range.

The cross-cut at the 600-foot level of the Waite Ackerman is expected to add quickly to the amount of ore available for shipment. The big width, as disclosed at 500 feet in depth, but which did not continue to 700 feet, is expected to be intersected at the 600-foot level.

From unofficial sources, information is obtained to the effect that improved mineralization has been picked up at the Newbec property. The latest discovery is said to have been located on the 125-foot level, and showed five feet of 7 per cent copper. Work is proceeding in the new find, and it is expected that some official announcement will be forthcoming soon.

Pending the completion of the new mill, directors of Dome Mines, Limited, are continuing the development of the mine and blocking out ore for mill feed. Reports from the district are to the effect that good results have been obtained recently in the Greenstones on the twenty-third level. Drifting from the the eighteenth level is said to have revealed good ore at depth, and it is for the purpose of opening up the indicated ore bodies that work is proceeding on the lower levels.

Fractional Gains at New York Followed by Alternating Ups and Downs

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, May 21.—After attaining some fractional gains early in the session the market alternated between periods of weakness and firmness with the reactionary tendency gaining force, following the announcement that Calumet and Arizona dividend has been reduced to $2 annual basis. The reduction at preceding dividend meeting was from 10 to 5 basis.

Late in the afternoon, pronounced weakness developed in Case and International Harvester unaccompanied by any news to account for it, but having the effect of producing some sharp further declines in the general rally, although fractional net losses were quite general at the close. A market feature during the noon day was the firmness displayed by the motor shares, particularly General Motors. A report had it that buying of the latter was for the account of those identified with the management of the company.

The motor group was particularly stimulated by reports of increased production in April over that of March. We think encouragement can be derived from the fact that no wide open break took place in the market, result of further unexpected cut in Calumet and Arizona dividend. We recommend that an attitude of confidence be cultivated and acted upon by the assumption of long positions in issues of the sound well managed companies.

Making Move To Stabilize Rubber Trade

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, May 21.—Heads of the leading rubber manufacturing companies, both in the United States and abroad, are engaged in negotiations looking to the stabilization of the industry from three important angles. It was learned yesterday, from a source connected with the financing of one of the principal companies. The stabilization move, in which it is forecast the "Big Four" of the American industry will co-operate, will seek to eliminate the violent fluctuations of the crude rubber markets by new buying policies designed to insure a well regulated flow of raw material from producers to fabricators, the elimination of much of the disastrous price cutting which has occurred in finished products of the industry in recent years, and perfection of distributive systems.

The four leading American companies suggested as intetrested in the world move—which would be on the same lines as that undertaken by the oil and copper industries—are the B. F. Goodrich Co., Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., U.S. Rubber Co. and the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. The Dunlop Co., leading British concern in the field, and the Michelin concern, which dominates the French market, will, it is believed, ally themselves with American manufacturers in achieving a condition which will result in profits of the companies commensurate with the risks of the business and the amount of capital invested.

FIRMING COPPER

Indications point to a firm price of 13 cents domestic and 13.30 for export in electrolytic copper for some time at least, it was learned yesterday, following a meeting of Copper Exporters, Inc., the world combination of producers. The tapering of both domestic and foreign demand in the last few days, it was said, has temporarily removed the possibility of a marking up in the price, which copper leaders are believed to be adverse to such a move at the present time in the fear of stimulating new activity on the part of the low cost mines, which have been the disturbing factor in the industry. At the same time, it was the opinion in authoritative circles that no price reduction just now was likely, even if demand should show a further drop in the next week. The 13-cent price, it was pointed out, permits copper to be purchased cheaper than most substitutes, and at the same time discourages production except by the large and well integrated companies who can make money at that figure.

The capital shares of bank for international settlements issued in eight different European countries yesterday, and wherever they were offered to the public they were heavily oversubscribed. In France the stock was oversubscribed 15½ times, and in Belgium it was covered more than twelve times. The Bank of England and the German Reichsbank retained their entire allotments of the capital shares for themselves. The shares are expected to pay a dividend of 6 per cent. with a possibility of producing 12 per cent.

Dow Jones' averages—Thirty industrials, high, 268.40; low, 260.76; last, 276.10; up 1.23. Twenty rails, high, 144.11; low, 143.11; last, 143.86; up 1.06. Twenty utilities, 99.23; off 0.20. Forty bonds, 95.17; up 0.06.

New Issue of Kingston Elevator Bonds Offered

Nesbitt, Thomson & Co., Ltd., announced Wednesday the offering of a new issue of Kingston Elevator Co., Ltd., 6 per cent twenty-year first mortgage sinking fund gold bonds, unconditionally guaranteed as to principal and interest by Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd. The issue is to be dated May 1, 1930, and will mature May 1, 1950. The offering price is 97 and accrued interest, to yield over 6¼ per cent.

The company, which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd., is erecting an elevator at Kingston, with a present capacity of 2,500,000 bushels and an ultimate capacity of 4,000,000 bushels. The opening of the new Welland Canal will permit the large grain ships to deliver cargo from Port Arthur and Fort William as far east as Kingston and afford substantial economies, more rapid transportation of the grain, and at the same time divert many cargoes from United States ports to Canadian ports.

The combined depreciated net assets of the guarantor company and its subsidiaries are in excess of $46,000,000, or more than twice the total funded debt, including this issue. Although earnings of Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd., suffered a severe reduction last year owing to abnormal conditions, the net earnings of the company and its subsidiaries during the past five years have averaged $1,032,000 after allowing for interest on the company's funded debt and depreciation, but before Dominion income tax. This is equivalent to 11.4 times interest requirements of this issue.

It is pointed out that, with the opening of shipping on the Great Lakes before the export of grain commenced, the Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd., will now be in a position to handle the business which has been delayed from last year, whereas a few months ago it was thought that last year's grain crop would be moved solely by rail during the Winter months.

The new issue is a legal investment for life insurance companies in Canada and is reported to have received a very good reception by these companies and other financial institutions.

Central Bank for Control of Credit Is Strongly Urged

OTTAWA, May 21.—A central bank for controlling credit in Canada was advocated during discussion by members of the Canadian Political Science Association, who last night concluded their annual meeting here.

Professor C. A. Curtis, of Queen's University, set forth the main functions of such an institution as: Acting as the fiscal agent of the Government, taking over the various duties of the Department of Finance under the Finance Act of 1923, and assuming credit control of business.

SHARP RECOVERY IS NOT EXPECTED

Enthusiasm for Motion Picture Group Waning—General Electric Recommended for Buy

NEW YORK, May 21.—(By Caplane).—In discussing the situation of the Fox Film Company on May 2, we pointed to the exaggerated hopes some have on the prospects of this stock. Initiated traders referred to the recently reported earnings of the Fox Film Corporation as furnishing the basis of further substantial gains for the stock.

This particular point was made clear by us when we called attention to the fact that the earnings of last year did not cover the required financing and that the increase in the "A" stock will bring down the available amount per share to about one-third. For this reason we did not consider holding Fox as desirable and recommended selling it. On that date it sold as high as 55 1-2 and after unimpressive fluctuations around these levels, Fox fell below 50. It recovered but little and yesterday, during the selling wave, it once more receded sharply. On very drastic recessions we advised repurchasing the stock and there is the likelihood that some did so yesterday.

In the meantime the enthusiasm for the motion picture group is waning, and for a just reason. The Summer months bring a falling off in attendance at theatres and income from rentals of films also recedes. On the other hand, the Summer witnesses heavy production, which entails large outlays. We therefore do not look for a sharp recovery in the motion picture group and the situation of Fox in particular does not promise a runaway market for this stock. Recoveries in this issue should be utilized for disposing of recent purchases.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

The new selling wave brought General Electric within a few points of the new low this stock reached a week ago Monday, but the buying on the decline was much better than at any time during the last ten days. It seems that those who followed closely "GL'S" movement became convinced that this stock can easily rebound in an impressive manner. It regained almost ten points on the recovery last week and lost approximately two-thirds of the gains. It should once more show pronounced strength. At current prices the stock is definitely attractive for long-terms holdings.

We understand that a large investment trust which liquidated big blocks of this stock early in April again re-entered the market yesterday and was partly responsible for the repeated recoveries "GL" recorded during periods of extreme weakness in the general list. In-and-out traders will have the opportunity to realize profits if they buy General Electric for a turn.

MARKET

Interesting and Opportune Statistics for Information Only

Someone has drawn out the following from statistical records:

In 45 years there have been 14 business depressions, and 10 of these lasted from 12 to 15 months. The stock market, however, hit bottom about 4 months before the end of the business depressions.

From the above has been deduced the following:

Peak of industry	July, 1929
15 months thereafter	October, 1930
4 months before (for low of market)	June, 1930

(Low of market, 1 month to 8 months before low of business depression); average of 4 taken.

From the above, it would appear that if, in the next two weeks, the market breaks below the averages of the last slump, a buying period for the VERY BEST INVESTMENT STOCKS will be established equal to the opportunities of 5 years ago.

H. Smith, Though Playing Abroad, Cuts His Average

Famous Young Detroit Pro Heads List in Race for Medal Honors—Olin Dutra Makes Decided Gain—Amateurs Doing Well

By J. P. GLASS

In the initial engagement of his British campaign, the Northern Professional Championship, Horton Smith proved just how good a golfer he is by bettering his seasonal medal average.

In a total of six rounds he played at a rate of 72 5-6 strokes to the round. This reduced his average for 1930 slightly, from 73 18-41 to 73 17-47.

The differing conditions of play abroad, in this case marked by violent rain and wind on the last day of the tournament, might have been expected to lessen the young star's efficiency, but did nothing of the sort. His showing was a tribute to his powers of study and determination to improve himself.

In general, the American amateurs abroad did very well in the Royal St. George's Cup competition. In the play-off Dr. Willing was not himself, but his showing in the regular rounds gave a true indication of his ability and demonstrated that he is likely soon to take his proper place as one of the country's best medalists.

George Voigt and George von Elm both bettered their averages. At that, Von Elm is far lower in the list than usual. He has not been able to maintain the pace of other years, but may, before long, come out of his slump.

Olin Dutra, the Los Angeles star, is making a bid for high honors. His 67 to tie for victory in a recent one-day event on the Coast boosted him to a position just behind Horton Smith in the averages. In this same event Mortie Dutra also improved his standing.

NOTTS MAKE POOR START

Champion English Cricket Team Scores Only 69 Runs in First Innings Against Hampshire

MANY CENTURIES ARE REGISTERED

(Canadian Press)

LONDON, May 21.—Nottinghamshire, English champion cricket county, made a bad start in their match against Hampshire at Southampton today. They were dismissed in their first innings for a mere 69, John Newman being the most successful Hampshire bowler, with an analysis of five wickets for 18 runs. Hampshire fared a little better on a bowler's wicket, replying with 125.

The Australians looked at the beginning as if they were going to have an easy time with Derby, the county losing three good wickets for 34 runs. The riot was stopped by Harry Storer and S Worthington, the former scoring 65 and the latter 79, and the county's first innings finally ended for 215.

Bowlers showed their skill with the bat today when J. C. White, the international, compiled 97 for Somerset against Middlesex, while George Geary also just missed a century for Leicestershire against Cambridge University, scoring 99.

Centurians today were: Rev. H. J. Parsons, 114, for Warwickshire against Surrey; E. Tyldesley, 106, for Lancashire against Glamorganshire, and J. O'Connor, 138, for Essex against Gloucestershire.

Scores at the end of today's play were:

Derbyshire, 215; Australia, 54 for no wickets.

Middlesex vs. Somerset, at Lords: Somerset, 336 for nine wickets.

Surrey vs. Warwickshire, at the Kennington Oval: Warwick, 318.

Kent, 193; Northants, 122.

Essex vs. Gloucestershire, at Brisfol: Essex, 286.

Notts, 69; Hampshire, 125.

Lancashire, 293; Glamorgan, 16 runs for no wickets.

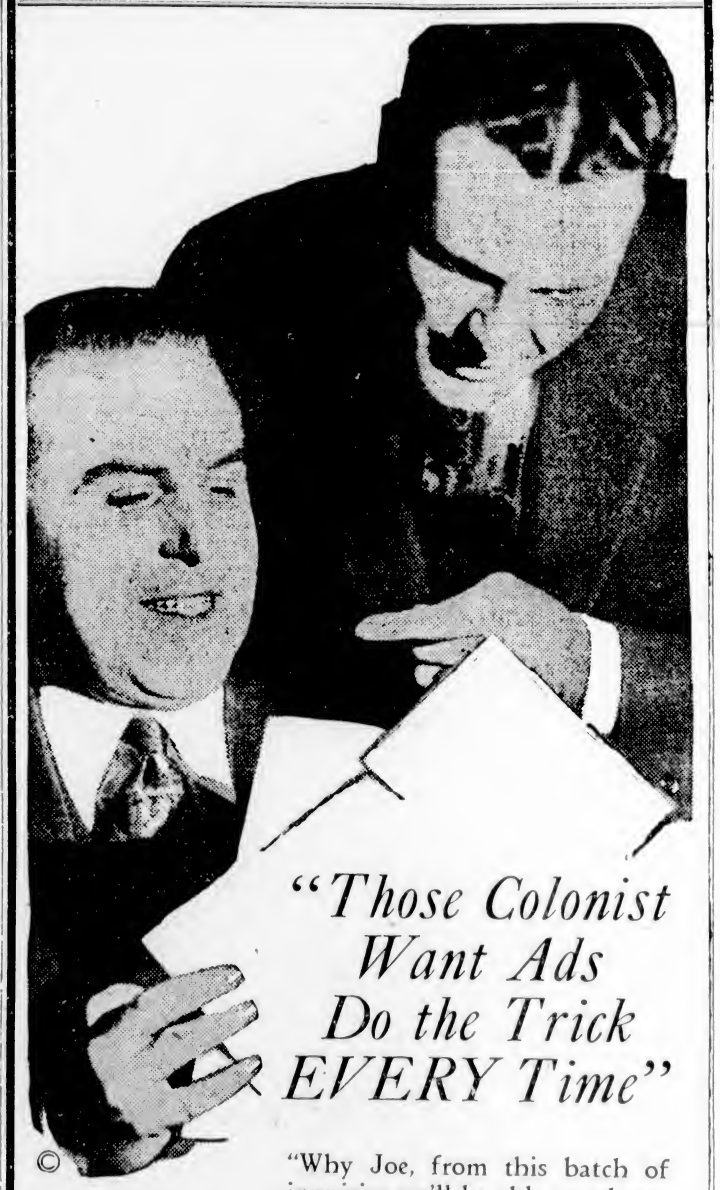

Leicester, 229; Cambridge, 6 runs for one wicket.

Friendly match: Yorkshire, 322; Sussex, 43 runs for no wickets.

COAST RACE

PRINCE RUPERT, May 21.—There is still uncertainty as to whether or not Prince Rupert will be represented in the international power cruiser marathon next month from Seattle to this port. There is plenty of talk, however, of at least one boat going south to make the race and the local yacht club is offering every inducement possible to have at least one entry.

STRAINS AND INJURED MUSCLES

Strains and sprains are terms often used for the same condition, but strictly speaking a sprain refers to a wrenching of a joint, and a strain to over-exercising or straining a muscle. Symptoms differ slightly in that the pain of a strain is usually far removed from the joint and is in the muscular tissues, while with a sprain the pain is in or around the joint.

While a strain greatly resembles a sprain and the parts may become swollen and painful, it is the muscle itself which is injured. Some of the muscular fibres may even have been torn apart. The large muscles of the shoulders and lower back are most often injured by lifting heavy weights or from a sudden twist. The leg muscles may be strained in athletics.

A strained back will greatly resemble lumbago and sometime rheumatic toxins steal into the injured muscles and cause true lumbago. In these cases a special treatment is required similar to that outlined in my article on lumbago. If you have not saved this article which appeared a short time ago, I will be glad to send it to you.

A frequent place for a strain is the region of the sacrum and the ilium. It is usually accompanied by a slight misplacement of the bones of that region, and this can best be corrected by osteopathic and chiropratic treatments.

The treatment for sprains and strains is not the same. In strains, where the muscle has been affected, it is better to use hot applications and gentle massage to promote the circulation. Where the deep muscular tissues are involved the electrical treatments with diathermy give best relief, since the heat can penetrate the tissues better than with any other method. If you cannot obtain this electrical treatment, use hot water bottles or an electric heater directed toward the sore spot.

In the sacroiliac strain, hot sitz baths often give great relief and I would also advise a cleansing diet regime to help in bringing about a more rapid absorption of the inflammation. Where the back is involved I do not advise exercise until after the inflammation has subsided. Sometimes it is a good plan for the osteopathic or chiropractic doctor who treats the back to strap it with adhesive tape after the treatment so as to prevent excessive movement.

The neck is often affected with strains and may become quite painful, as every movement of the head causes more soreness. Hot applications and manipulative treatments should also be used in this trouble. I have prepared a number of articles on similar subjects to those mentioned in this article, and I will be pleased to send them to you if you will send me a two-cent stamp for every article you desire. This is to help pay for the cost of mailing and preparation.

FOUND NOT GUILTY

NELSON, May 21.—After deliberating twenty minutes a jury here yesterday brought in a verdict of not guilty in the case of Baptiste Philip, Creston Indian. He was charged with shooting with intent to kill. The case arose out of the Philip shooting over the head of Andrew Alexander, another Indian of the Creston Reserve, following a quarrel over a drinking party in which Philip's wife had taken part. Evidence showed Philip intended only to scare Alexander and could have shot him had he so wished.

PORT ALBERNI CASE IN COURT

Peter McGovern Sues Emil Maralla for $10,470 Damages—Sequel to Car Accident

Evidence for the plaintiff and part of the evidence for the defence, in a suit for $10,470 damages brought by Peter McGovern against Emil Maralla, was presented yesterday in Supreme Court before Mr. Justice Fisher. The plaintiff was a passenger in a car, driven by the defendant, which collided with a stump at the side of the road from Nanaimo to Port Alberni, on July 28, 1929, and claims damages for injuries sustained, for loss of time and for cost of medical treatment. Defendant is a hotel proprietor in Port Alberni and plaintiff, a barber, at the time of the accident resided in the defendant's hotel, but has since moved to Duncan.

Mr. R. D. Harvey and Mr. R. F. Bainbridge appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. E. V. Finland and Mr. R. Manzer for the defendant.

EVIDENCE FOR PLAINTIFF

The plaintiff, giving evidence, said that he had conversed with the defendant in the beer parlor at the hotel about 10:30 p.m. of the evening before the day of the accident and had then gone to his room. Defendant, he said, had come up to the room several times to ask him to go out for a drive. Finally plaintiff had got up and gone with defendant. Defendant had driven to Nanaimo and it was on the return from Nanaimo that the accident occurred. Witness had just addressed some remark to defendant, he said, and getting no answer had observed that defendant had become incapable of paying attention and was sitting at the wheel with his head dropped forward. That moment the car hit the stump. Witness had sustained severe injuries, and had presently become unconscious.

In addition to evidence relating to the cause of the accident, medical testimony was given by witnesses for the plaintiff as to the extent and permanent nature of injuries he received. Most of the evidence for the defence had still to be heard when the court adjourned.

Johnny had told a falsehood, and his mother was anxiously talking with him.

"The Bible says, Johnny," she told him, "that no one who tells lies can go to heaven."

"Mama," he asked, "did you ever tell a lie."

"I dare say I did, my son, when I was very small like you, and did not realize how wicked it was."

"Did papa ever tell a lie?"

"Perhaps he might, when he was a little boy, but he would not do it now."

"Well," remarked the young philosopher, "I don't know as I care about going to heaven, if there isn't going to be anybody there but God and George Washington."
